

STEVEN E. MILLER

CIVILIZING

POLICY, POWER, AND THE INFORMATION SUPERHIGHWAY

CYBERSPACE

Contents

Preface v

1 Where is Cyberspace:

Visions of the Future 1

Markets and the Modern World 2

Daybreak 3

Nightfall 5

Possible Impacts 7

Commercial Visions 11

The Road Forward 14

Question and Answer:

Gary Chapman, 21st Century Project 17

2 The Policy Starting Point:

Markets, Government, and the Public Interest 19

The Terms of Debate 20

Models of the Future 21

The Choice Being Made 23

Facing the Issues 24

The Market's Mixed Messages 26

From Discussion to Action 30

The Democratic Imperative 32

Question and Answer:

Vint Cerf, MCI 34

3 What is a National Information Infrastructure:

And Why are We Building it? 35

Microchip Imperialism 36

Bottom-Up and Top-Down 41

What is a Network? 42

- Origins of the Internet 43
- ARPAnet 44
- The Flat Fee Policy 48
- Internet Limitations 49
- It's the People Who Make It Special 52

Question and Answer:

Ben Shneiderman, University of Maryland 54

4 Framing the Public Policy Debate:

Visions, Strategies, and Technology 57

- Technology is Human Made 59
- Democratizing the NII Decision-Making Process 60
- Why Build the NII? 61
- Do We Need to Set National Goals at All? 61
- Strategy and Political Camps 65
- From Hype to Implementation 68
- Institutionalizing the Future 70

Question and Answer:

Jonathan Weber, Los Angeles Times 71

5 Protecting the Public Interest:

A Menu of Policy Options 73

- A Menu of Government Strategies 74
- Past Models 83
- What Next for the NII? 95

Question and Answer:

Marsha Woodbury, University of Illinois 99

6 The Government's Agenda

Pending Policies 101

- Military Leadership 101
- The Civilian Government 105
- Commercializing Cyberspace 107
- Federal Communications Commission 111
- Congressional Action 116
- From Competition to Free Speech 134
- Non-Federal Actions 135
- Citizen Input 137

Question and Answer:Ivan G. Seidenberg, Nynex 1397 The Players and Their Plans:The Industries and Firms* 141

The Lineup 143

Patterns of Industry Competition 144

The Telephone Industry 152

The TV Industry 158

Cellular, Wireless, and Satellite 164

Electric Power Companies 166

Hardware, Software, and Games 167

Information and Service Providers 171

Question and Answer:Karen Coyle, University of California 1768 Universal Service:Giving Everyone a Chance* 179

What Is Universal Service? 179

The Requirements 181

Strategic Options for Universal Service 195

Overall Funding Is the Starting Point 201

International 205

The Real Necessities 207

Question and Answer:Doug Schuler, Seattle Community Network 2099 Democracy and Free Speech:Online Organizing for Participation and Power* 211

Reversing the Withdrawal from Public Life 212

The Precondition: Universal Access 215

Networking for Democracy 216

Reserving Noncommercial Space on the NII 217

Public Right-of-Way Legislation 221

Public Access to Public Information 221

Open Discussion 230

Free Speech and Censorship 236

Common Carriers and Equitable Access 247

From Participation to Power: Strategies for Electronic Democracy 248

- The Building Blocks of Electronic Democracy 249
- Helping Leaders Get the Message 252
- Citizenship in a Networked World 257
- Turning Visions into Reality 258

Question and Answer:

Marc Rotenberg, Electronic Privacy Information Center 260

10 Privacy, Civil Liberties, and Encryption:

Controlling Our Data Identity 263

Electronic Exposure 264

The Constitutional Basis 268

Accuracy, Integrity, Security, and Privacy 269

Junk Mail and Other Annoyances 272

Who Owns Your Data? 278

Your Money or Your Life: Computer Crimes 282

Class Actions 284

"When They Came for Me, There Was No One Left to Protest..." 290

The Encryption Debate 298

The Spooks' Counterattack 301

The Laws on Our Side 309

No Hiding Place Down Here 314

Question and Answer:

Donald Murray, Boston Globe 317

11 Community, Diversity, and Citizenship:

Online Ethics and the Need for Meaningful Connections 319

Community and the Technology Marketplace 321

The Internet Community 322

Mass Media and the Search for Community 325

The Building Blocks of Community 327

Creating Community Through Local Networks 329

The Building Process 331

Virtual Communities 333

Diversity 337

Question and Answer:

Jeff Johnson, Computer Professionals for Social Responsibility 341

12 Economic Development:

Work, Crime, and Intellectual Property 345

Uneven Development 346

Tele-Crimes and Other Cracks 356

Intellectual Property 359

The International Perspective 371

Question and Answer:

Tim Wise, Grassroots International 374

13 Citizen Action:

From Analysis to New Institutions 377

The Tragedy of the Commons 378

Measuring Success 386

Local Action 392

National Action 393

Technology Planning and Democracy 395

Index 399

About the Author 413