

THE MAKING
OF ISLAMIC ECONOMIC SOCIETY

Islamic dimensions in economic analysis

M. A. MANNAN

CONTENTS

	Page
Foreward : Prince Mohammad Al-Faisal Al-Saoud	XIII
Preface : Professor (Dr.) Ahmed El-Najjar	XIV
Introduction by Author
Special Acknowledgements	XVI
 Glossary
 PART ONE
ASSUMPTIONS AND VALUES: THE ISLAMIC ECONOMIC SOCIETY IN OVERVIEW:	1
 Chapter:1. Why is Islamic Economics Important?	2
Seven reasons for believing:
- Introduction: A Muslim viewpoint;
- Ideological imperatives;
- Economic imperatives;
- Social imperatives;
- Moral and ethical imperatives;
- Political imperatives;
- Historical imperatives;
- International imperatives;
- Conclusion.
- References.
 Chapter:2.Nine Assumptions of Islamic Economics:	22
- Introduction;
- Belief in «Islamic person/man»;
- Lack of harmony of interest;
- Relative ownership of private property;
- Disbelief in historical materialism;
- Disbelief in consumer's or producer's sovereignty;
- Limited state enterprise;
- Positive attitude towards history;
- Dual stress on evolutionary and structural change;
- Built-in-flexibility and rigidity of laws;
- Conclusion.
- References.

Chapter:3.Nine Postulates of Islamic Economic Behaviour:

- Introduction;
- Total economic integration;
- Economic trusteeship;
- Conscious co-operation;
- Dual notion of return;
- Minimum economic provisioning;
- Limited private ownership of the means of production;
- Limited public ownership;
- Maximum utilisation of resources through socialization;
- Diffusion of risk and uncertainty;
- Conclusion.
- References.

PART TWOPROBLEMS, POSSIBILITIES AND CHOICE: ECONOMIC, INSTITUTIONAL SOCIAL AND POLITICAL SETTINGS OF ISLAMIC ECONOMY 49*Chapter:4.Scarcity, Choice and Opportunity Cost: their Islamic dimensions: 50

- Statement of the problems and objectives,
- Islamic economics as a process,
- Scarcity and wants,
- Choice and opportunity cost,
- Integrative system of exchange and one-way transfer.
- Summary in figures,
- Scarcity, choice and opportunity cost distinguished diagrammatically.
- Conclusion.
- References.

Chapter:5.The Institutional Settings of an Islamic Economy: A Comparative Review:

- Setting of problem and objectives,
- Underlying assumptions,
- Production and distributive process,
 - : Use and exchange aspects,
 - : Human and international aspects,
- Consumption process: An integrated view,
- Summary and conclusion.
- References.

	Page
Chapter:6. Nature and Scope of individual-society-state Relationship and their socio-economic significance.	103
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Moral dimension, - Social dimension, - Economic dimension, - Political dimension, - Conclusion. - References.
Chapter:7. The Structure of Social Justice in Islam: Perspectives on Social and Economic goals.	117
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Its nature, - Ethical foundation, - Economic foundation, - Sociological foundation, - Political foundation, - Concluding observations, - References.
Chapter:8. The State in Market, Command and Islamic Society: An analysis of their paradigms and roles:	147
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Introduction: objectives, - Orthodox-neo-classical paradigm, - The state in market society, - Marxian paradigm, - The state in command society, - Islamic paradigm - The state in Islamic society. - A Comparative review, - Conclusion. - References.

PART THREE

MARKET, PRICES AND POVERTY: ISLAMIC DIMENSION IN MICROECONOMIC ANALYSIS: 194

Chapter:9. Islamic Perspectives on Market Prices and Allocation: 195

- Setting of the problems and objectives,
- Need-Versus-Demand,
- Islamic approach to market prices:
 - : Consumer's surplus,
 - : Producer's surplus,
- Inequitable distribution of income and market mechanism,
- Towards understanding of Islamic theory of effective-need-based demand and potential-capacity-based supply,
- The elasticity of need-based demand and capacity based supply,
- Three Policy Options,
- Policy implications and Islamic alternatives:
 - : Non-price-rationing with market mechanism,
 - : Zero price through 'n' pricing,
 - : Socialisation of pricing policy,
 - : Guided co-operative prices,
 - : Nationalisation of prices,
 - : Concluding observations.
- References.

Chapter:10. The Behaviour of the Firm and its Objectives in Islamic Framework: 241

- Setting of the problem,
- Rejection of «Pareto Optimality» and «given demand hypothesis»,
- Marginal cost-Marginal revenue vs full cost pricing analysis,
- Advertising,
- Conclusion,
- References.

Chapter:11. Islamic Perspectives on Market Imperfections. 259

- Introduction,
- The theory of monopoly,
- Planned price-discrimination or differentiation in Islam,
- Oligopoly: Tentative appraisal,
- References.

PART FOUR

ISLAMIC DIMENSIONS IN MACRO-ECONOMICS.

272

Chapter:12. Islamic Perspectives on National Income Accounting.

273

- Setting of the problem and objectives,
- Some key measures in National Income Accounting (NIA)
 - : NIA as a measure of dispersion,
 - : NIA as a measure of income of the rural sector,
 - : NIA as a measure of economic welfare,
 - : NIA as a measure of social welfare,
- Conclusion.
- References.

Chapter:13. Consumption Function in Islam: Its Nature and Scope.

282

- Setting of the problems,
- On Keynesian theory,
- Expected desirable income hypothesis and consumption,
- Meaning of 'moderation' in consumption in Islam,
- Conclusion,
- References.

Chapter:14. Monetary and Fiscal Economics of Islam: Selected Leading Issues.

A: Indexation in an Islamic Economy.

305

- Setting of the problem and objectives.
 - : The Monetarist's advocacy of indexation,
 - : Cost-push objections to indexation,
 - : Islamic synthesis
- Recommendations and conclusion.
- References.

B: Creation of Credit and Islamic Banks.

320

- Setting of the problem.
- Basic Assumptions,
- Some subjective and objective basis for credit creation
- Process of credit creation: its implications,
- References.

C: Zakat: its disbursement and Intra-poor distributional equity.

332

- Introduction and objectives,
- Zakat revenue for raising productivity,
- Zakat revenue for direct transfer payments;
 - : its implications,

- Some related issues: coverage, rates and «Nisab» of Zakat,
- Conclusion.
- References.

Chapter:15. Allocative efficiency Decision and Welfare Criteria:
A Comparative Policy approach:

347

- Objectives and Scope,
- Review of Neo-classical and Marxian method,
- Towards Islamic theory of resources allocation
: objective factors: accounting price and subjective welfare criteria,
- Conclusion,
- References.

PART FIVE

SOCIO ECONOMIC REALITIES OF THE MUSLIM WORLD: ISLAMIC ECONOMY IN ACTION:

381

Chapter:16. Development experience and Choices for the Muslim World:
A Search for Policy Alternatives in Development Planning in an Islamic framework:

382

- Introduction:
: Objectives and statement of the problems
- Development experience: scale and dimensions of material poverty.
- Policy choices
- : Emphasize people and their Islamic values
- : Emphasize «effective need»
- : Emphasize social appropriateness in technology
- : Emphasize integrated rural development.
- : Emphasize continuity and social-continuum

: Emphasize education aiming at total human development.

: Emphasize «woman» in development.

: Emphasize «group»

: Emphasize new lifestyle and export substitution and rural industrialisation.

: Emphasize improving organisation and implementation capacity

Chapter:17. Islamic Perspectives on Islamic Bank: Nine Unconventional Role and Operational Strategies. 409

- Statement of the problems and objectives,
- Nine Unconventional roles and Operational Strategies,
 - : Selling the concept of co-operation;
 - : Designing and perceiving a specific regional model of development;
 - : Mobilising intellectual resources;
 - : Mobilising non-human resources;
 - : De-emphasizing loan operation and emphasizing risk-sharing;
 - : Emphasizing distribution of power and responsibilities;
 - : Providing framework for pooling and utilization of voluntary resources;
 - : Using differential, preferential and promotional mark-up and discount rate;
 - : Improving implementation capacity.
- Conclusion.
- References.

Chapter:18. Islamic Banks in Operation: Trends and Issues. 450

- Introduction,
- Islamic Development Bank (IDB): An appraisal,
 - : Overview of operations,
 - : Functional targets and sectoral priorities,
 - : Overall contribution and least developed countries,

- : Loan operations,
- : Equity participation,
- : Lines of equity to National Development Banks,
- : Lease financing,
- : Technical assistance,
- : Profit-sharing,
- : Foreign trade operations,
- Some Policies and Procedures of IDB: A Review.
- Conclusion.
- Local Islamic banks (LIB): An appraisal
- Introduction
 - : Utilisation of Investment Funds.
 - : Review of operations,
 - : Success of LIB,
 - : Areas of co-operation and conclusion,
- References.

Appendix to Chapter: 18.

- I. Names of Local Islamic Banks.
- II. Basic Regulations for Financing transaction as adopted by an Islamic Investment Co.
- III. Islamic Institutional Reserve Modaraba: How does it work

479

Annexures:

- Some basic socio-economic indicators of the Muslim world: At a glance.
- Bar Charts I-VII
- Tables I-XIV

489

Index.

523