

73

ISLAM AND GOVERNMENTAL SYSTEM

H. MUNAWIR SJADZALI, M.A.

CONTENTS

	Page
Note on the English Translation	xi
Preface I	xiii
Preface II	xv
Foreword	xix
1. Introduction	1
2. The Content of Al-Qur'ān	3
– The position of man on earth	3
– Consultation	4
– Obedience to a Leader	4
– Justice	4
– Equality	4
– The relationship between Mulims and Non-Muslims	4
3. The Prophet's Period	7
– The Madīnah Charter	8
– The Prophet and Consultation (Mushāwarah)	12
4. The Period of the Four Al-Khulafā' al-Rāshidīn	17
– The Process of appointing the Four Al-Khulafā'7 Al-Rāshidīn	17
– The relationship between ruler and people	21
Conclusion	22
5. Al-Khulafā' al-Rāshidīn Post Period Khulafā'	25
– Mu'āwiyah responsibility for changes	25
– The entry of foreign influence	26
6. Islamic Political Thinking During the Classical Era and the Middle Ages	31
– Ibn Abī Rabī'	32
– Al-Fārābī	36
– Al-Māwardī	42
– Al-Ghazālī	50
– Ibn Taymiyyah	56
– Ibn Khaldūn	63
Conclusion	74
7. Contemporary Islamic Political Thinking	77
– Al-Afghānī, 'Abduh and Riḍā	81
– 'Alī 'Abd Al-Rāziq	95
– Al-Ikhwān Al-Muslimīn	100
– Al-Mawdūdī	108
– Muḥammad Ḥusayn Haykal	122
– Thoughts on Islām and Governmental System in Indonesia	129
Conclusion	139

8. Political Views of Shī'ah, Khawārij and Mu'tazilah	145
- Shī'ah	145
- Khawārij	145
- Mu'tazilah	150
9. Political Systems in Islamic Countries	153
- Saudi Arabia, Morocco and Jordan	153
- Egypt and a number of Arab Republics	154
- Turkey and Pakistan	155
10. Conclusion	161
 Bibliography	 165