

MANUFACTURING MATTERS

THE MYTH
OF THE POST-
INDUSTRIAL ECONOMY

July

STEPHEN S. COHEN AND JOHN ZYSMAN

BASIC BOOKS, Inc./PL 5220/$9.95

CONTENTS

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS	ix
-----------------	----

INTRODUCTION	xi
--------------	----

PART I

Manufacturing Matters

1. Why Manufacturing Matters	3
2. Linkages, Wealth, and Power	12
3. Services and the American Trade Balance	28
4. Services and Development	49
5. The Eroding Competitiveness of American Industry	59

PART II

Managing the Transition

6. Confronting the Transition	79
7. Market Competition, Technological Development, and Trade	90
8. Production Skills in the Logic of the New Trade Game	111
9. Manufacturing Flexibility: The Slogan of the Transition	130
10. Dimensions of the Transition: The Revolution in Manufacturing	150
11. Dimensions of the Transition: The New Telecommunications Revolution	178
12. Choices America Faces: Issues That Will Shape the Transition	194

PART III

Creating Advantage

13. Toward an American Consensus	203
14. Policy and Competitiveness in a Changing World Economy	211
15. Toward a Policy Agenda for Competitiveness	220
16. Trade Policy in an Evolving World Economy	244
17. Conclusion: The Myth of the Post-Industrial Economy	259
NOTES	265
INDEX	287