

The Panasonic

Translated by
Frank Baldwin

Toshihiko Yamashita
Way

From a Chief Executive's Desk

CONTENTS

Prologue	7
1. Early Days	11
Learning from Philips—A Hard Time at West Electric— My Cold War: The Air Conditioner Division
2. The Bigness Syndrome	24
The Electric Iron Division—Recharging the Dry Battery Division—VCRs: The Big Decision—Deciding Quickly— A Present from Mr. Matsushita
3. The Changing Face of Business	39
Constant Reform—R&D: The Lifeblood of a Company— Learning from 3M—Integrated Circuits Take Off—People and Technology—Stepping Down
4. Adversity Builds Character	55
The Miracle Drug of Productivity: Personnel Shifts— Failure Is the Best Teacher—Feedback: The Staff of Man- agement—Shift Competence, Not Misfits—Women at Matsushita—Building Corporate Solidarity—Contributing to Society—Working Toward Goals
5. Operating in the World Economy	95
The Japanese Touch—Exporting the Matsushita Spirit— Iran: The Panasonic Way Meets the Islamic Revolution— Technical Training in Tanzania—Transferring Japanese- style Management—Cooperating with the Germans— Private Sector Economic Cooperation Works—Hands-on Management—Fascinating People—Feminine Ambassa- dors—Hospitality in Rabbit Hutches—Appreciating the Differences—The Burden of Affluence

6. A Second Life

122

Planning for Retirement—Retirement Abroad—Youth Is a State of Mind—"Because They Are There"—Mt. Damavand—Other Climbs—Mountains and Stress—Keeping in Touch—Staying Healthy—Hobbies—Kikuko—A Division of Labor