

M. Y. Yoshino

Japan's Multinational Enterprises

Contents

	Introduction by Raymond Vernon	xiii
1.	The Setting	1
	Strategy and Structure, 1868–1945
	Strategy and Structure, 1945–1970
	Erosion of the Traditional Strategy
2.	Ventures in Raw Materials	33
	Evolution of the Japanese Oil Industry
	Japanese Oil Ventures Abroad
	The Role of Government
3.	The Spread of Manufacturing	61
	Investment in Developing Countries
	The Japanese Advantages
	The Search for Stability
	Defense of the Market Position in Advanced Countries
	Investment in the United States
	Emergence of Large-Scale Investment
	Prospects for the Future
4.	The Trading Company	95
	Strategy toward Foreign Direct Investment
	Growing Threats
	Emergence of New Strategies and Structures
	Prospects for the Future

5.	The Manufacturing Firm	127
	Organizational Evolution
	Creating an International Division
	Strengthening the International Division
	Strategy and Ownership Policy
	Import Substitution Strategy
	Assuring Raw Materials
	Rationalization of Production
	Changing Strategies and Ownership Policies
6.	The Managerial System	161
	Index	183

Tables

1-1	Value of output of selected products as a percentage of the non-Communist world output, 1965 and 1971	26
1-2	Japan's exports by principal commodity, selected years, 1953-73	27
1-3	The six largest trading companies, 1973	28
1-4	Product categories of the two leading trading companies	28
1-5	The multinational commercial presence of the 10 leading trading companies, March 31, 1973	29
1-6	Number of foreign sales subsidiaries established by 50 leading manufacturing firms in selected Industries, by geographic area, 1951-73	30
1-7	Consumption of key raw materials in Japan, 1960 and 1970	31
1-8	Imports as a percentage of total consumption of selected raw materials, 1960 and 1970	31
1-9	Annual foreign direct investment, 1951-72	32
2-1	Emergence of companies engaged in oil exploration outside Japan	59
3-1	Number of subsidiaries created by the 43 Japanese manufacturing enterprises listed among Fortune's 200 non-U.S. enterprises, by year of establishment	91
3-2	Geographical spread of manufacturing subsidiaries owned by Fortune's 43 Japanese enterprises, 1951-70	91

3-3	Number of subsidiaries of Fortune's 43 Japanese manufacturing firms, by major product line, 1970	92
3-4	Number of firms in selected industries which established manufacturing subsidiaries within three years after an initial move by a competitor in three key markets, 1973	92
3-5	Average size of manufacturing investments in selected industries in Asia, by size of initial capitalization, 1973	93
3-6	Size of foreign subsidiaries owned by Fortune's 43 Japanese manufacturing enterprises, by sales, 1970	93
3-7	Destination of sales of 661 foreign subsidiaries of 399 Japanese manufacturing enterprises, by industry, for fiscal year ending March 31, 1973	94
3-8	Multinational spread of Japanese manufacturing subsidiaries in the electronics industry, 1951-73	94
4-1	Major activities of subsidiaries of the 10 leading trading companies, March 31, 1973	123
4-2	Foreign subsidiaries of the 10 leading trading companies, by industry, March 31, 1973	123
4-3	Ownership patterns of foreign subsidiaries of the 10 leading trading companies, March 31, 1973	124
4-4	Managers' assessments of the contributions of trading companies as partners in joint ventures, by stage of development	124
4-5	Managers' assessments of the conflicts associated with trading companies as partners in joint ventures, by stage of development	125
5-1	Percentage of the value of materials and components purchased from parent companies by local subsidiaries of 50 Japanese manufacturing enterprises, by industry	156
5-2	Percentage of the output of foreign subsidiaries of 50 manufacturing enterprises sold in the local market	157
5-3	Managers' assessments of the contributions of local partners in joint ventures, by stage of development of international business	157

5-4	Managers' assessments of the conflicts associated with local partners in joint ventures, by stage of international development	158
5-5	Major manufacturing investments made since 1970 in which the parent company has either majority or 100 percent control	159
6-1	Extent to which Japanese managers held key positions in 25 Japanese manufacturing subsidiaries in Thailand, 1973	178