

MALAYSIA'S
NEW ECONOMIC POLICY

AHMAD IDRIS

Contents

Acknowledgement	x
Preface	xiii
Chapter 1: Introduction	1
Objectives	5
Significance of the study	5
Methodology	6
Organization of the study	6
Scope and Limitations of the study	8
Chapter 2: Brief Historical Perspective of Urban and Regional Development Policies in Peninsular Malaysia	9
General Information	9
Evaluation of Malaysian Development Policy	10
Emergence of Regional Policy in 1971	15
Regional Planning and New Economic Policy	16
Decentralization Development	16
Industrial Decentralization	17
Land Development Strategy	20
Industrial Dispersal	20
Policy Instruments	21
Fiscal Measures	21
New Towns Development	21
Rural Industrialization, Rural Credit, Small Scale Industries and Monetary Policy	23

Regional Development Policy	24
Infrastructure and Communications	24
Government Allocation for Public Expenditures	26
Allocation by States	30
Industrial Support	30
Conclusion	31
Chapter 3: Brief History of the New Economic Policy	33
Formulation of the New Economic Policy	33
Economic Feasibility of the NEP	40
Conclusion	45
Chapter 4: Urbanization in Peninsular Malaysia	50
Urban Population Growth	50
Recent Urbanization in Peninsular Malaysia	51
Conclusion	73
Chapter 5: Recent Internal Migration in Peninsular Malaysia: Rate and Functional Determinants	78
Introduction	78
Migration Patterns	78
Regional/State Movement	81
State, City and Town Migration by Community Groups	96
Conclusion	99
Chapter 6: Simulation of the Sector – Specific Employment Expansion of the NEP	106
Introduction	106
Sectors with High and Low Correlation	118
Regression Analysis Results	120
Projections of Employment Expansion	130
Spatial Implication of Required Shares in Employment of Various Racial Groups, 1980 – 1990	162
Shares of Various Groups in Overall Jobs, 1970 – 1990	163
Trends in Unemployment and Displacement	164

Chapter 7: Conclusion	170
Appendix A: Statistics on Net Migration and Total Differences of Employment and Unemployment for Regions in Peninsular Malaysia (1970 - 1980)	175
Appendix B: Result of Correlation and Regression Analysis	182
Appendix C: Projections and Model of Migration	190
Selected Bibliography	207