

J.A.G. GRIFFITH
THE POLITICS OF THE JUDICIARY

Third edition
A Fontana Original

Contents

Preface to the third edition 11

Part One: The Judiciary

1. Courts and judges 15
 - Introduction* 15
 - Appointment* 17
 - Social and political position* 25
 - A note on the structure of courts* 31
2. Extrajudicial activity 34
 - Royal Commissions, departmental committees, and the like* 34
 - The Restrictive Practices Court* 38
 - Industrial relations* 39
 - Northern Ireland* 43
 - Legislative process* 45

Part Two: Cases

3. Industrial relations 53
 - The early cases* 53
 - The general strike* 58
 - Picketing* 60
 - The right to strike* 62
 - Inducing breach of contract* 63
 - Industrial Relations Act 1971* 64
 - The Law Lords restrain Denning* 70
 - The Conservative attack* 75
 - The miners' strike in 1984* 80

4. Personal rights 83
 - Individual freedom* 83
 - Police powers* 87
 - Race relations* 95
 - The earlier cases* 95
 - The CRE cases* 99
 - Immigration and deportation* 104
 - Contempt of court, restrictions on publications, and the maintenance of secrecy* 112

5. The control of discretionary powers 129
 - The earlier cases* 129
 - The changes in attitude* 130
 - The growth of interventionism* 131
 - The Fares Fair litigation* 142

6. The uses of conspiracy 150
 - Introduction* 150
 - Moral behaviour* 152
 - Demonstrations and protests* 156

7. Students, prisoners and trade union members 163
 - Students* 163
 - Prisoners* 172
 - Trade union members* 176

Part Three: Policy

8. Judicial creativity 181

9. The political role 193
 - The traditional view* 193
 - The myth of neutrality* 195
 - The public interest and its application* 198
 - Three case studies* 207
 - Conclusion* 222

- General index 239
Index of cases 251