

Sovereignty Divided

Essays on the international dimensions of the Cyprus problem

Michael Moran

CYREP

CONTENTS

Maps 1-3		ix
Note for the third impression		xiii
Introduction: A crisis to be avoided		xiv
1	1964-1965: How the Turkish Cypriots were Deprived of their Constitutional Rights	1
	A. Manoeuvring at the UN in 1964	1
	B. Anglo-American Abnegation of Responsibility	41
2	How Greeks Play with Words	73
3	Remarks on the UN Secretary-General's Report on Cyprus of November, 1992 (S/24830)	82
4	Has Dr. Gobbi Solved the Cyprus Problem?	90
5	Are the UN Resolutions on Cyprus Compatible with the Secretary-General's 'Set of Ideas'?	103
6	Whose Status Quo? Remarks on an Incoherence in UN Thinking about Cyprus	111
7	How the Current Impasse Began: the 'Informal Negotiations' of October, 1994	121
8	A Question to the European Commissioner	139
9	Britain's Perspective on Cyprus: An Imaginary Conversation	145
10	Why, so far, the Cyprus Problem has Remained Unsolved	179