

C1

Retailing

MADE SIMPLE

WILLIAM J. PHILPOTT, B.Sc. (Econ.)

PREFACE	v
ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS	vi
1 WHAT RETAILING IS ALL ABOUT
The Satisfaction of People's Needs and Wants in the Community	1
Distribution from Manufacturer to Consumer	3
Size and Scope and Complexity of the Trade	5
Economic and Social Aspects	6
Government Influences and Controls	7
Pattern of Shoppers and Shopping	8
Variations in Trades and Regions	11
2 TYPES OF SHOPS AND SHOPKEEPERS
Analysis by Size	13
Analysis by Geographical Area	13
Analysis by Commodity Sold	13
Analysis by Form of Legal Constitution	13
Analysis by Character of the Business	14
The Private or Independent Retailer	16
The Department Store	18
Multiple Shops	22
Variety Chain Stores	26
Co-operative Societies	27
Hypermarkets, Superstores, and Discount Stores	31
Mail-Order Warehouses	35
Supermarkets	37
Markets and Stalls	39
Navy, Army and Air Force Institutes	40
Check Trading Companies	41
British Gas Corporation	42
Electricity Boards	43
Garage Forecourt Retailing	44
Home-Selling Methods	45
3 ORGANISATION OF THE SHOP
Dividing up Duties in the Shop	48
Layout of the Shop and Stock	52
Storage and Care of Stock	54
Lighting, Heating, and Cleaning	55
Maintenance of Building	56
Equipment and its Use	57
Security of Stock and Premises	58
Shoplifting and Thefts by Shop Staff	59

4 BUYING THE GOODS
Objectives of the Buyer	63
The People who Buy	64
Deciding who to Cater for—and How	67
Finding out What People Want	69
Estimating Sales	71
Estimating the Cost of Stocks	73
Planning the Range of Stocks	76
Selecting Suppliers	78
Ordering the Goods	86
Checking Incoming Merchandise	87
Stock Control—Keeping a Balance between Sales and Stocks	88
Stocktaking: the Annual Count	90
How to Fix Selling Prices	94
Branded Goods	99
The Buying Cycle	100
Reading List	101
Questions	101
Job Description: Store Buyer	102
5 SELLING THE GOODS
Qualifications for Salesmanship	106
Selling the Product	107
Customer Buying Motives	108
Product Knowledge	109
Stages of the Sale	110
Methods of Increasing Sales	110
Handling Complaints	111
Sales Promotion	111
Display	117
Publicity and Public Relations	120
6 THE MONEY SIDE OF THE BUSINESS
Providing the Capital	121
Balancing the Income and Expenditure	122
Control of Expenses	124
Making a Profit	127
Control of Paperwork	127
Dealing with Credit	129
Discounts from Suppliers	131
Comparing the Results	132
Measures of Performance	133
The Final Accounts	142
7 STAFF MATTERS
Planning Staff Needs and Costs	149
Defining the Job	150
Recruitment and Appointment	152
Welfare and Human Relations	156
Wages Councils	157

Some Aspects of the Law Relating to Employment Training and Education	158 159
8 LEGAL MATTERS
Background to the Law	167
Sale of Goods Act, 1893	169
Supply of Goods (Implied Terms) Act, 1973	169
Trade Descriptions Acts, 1968-1972	173
Shops Acts, 1950 to 1965	176
Offices, Shops and Railway Premises Act, 1963	176
Fair Trading Act, 1973	178
Consumer Credit Act, 1974	179
Consumer Protection Acts, 1961 and 1971	180
Weights and Measures Act, 1963	181
Food and Drugs Act, 1955	181
Employment Protection Act, 1975	181
Health and Safety at Work Act, 1974	182
Sex Discrimination Act, 1975, and Equal Pay Act, 1970	183
Other Legislation Affecting the Retailer	184
Reading List	185
9 TRENDS IN RETAILING
Research in Retailing	187
Social Attitudes of Retailers	191
Growth	192
Reduction in the Number of Buying Points	197
Developments in Warehousing and Transport	198
Shopping Centres	199
European Economic Community	204
Scientific and Technical Developments in Retailing	207
General Trends and Developments	210
Reading List	214
APPENDIX: SOURCES OF FURTHER INFORMATION
1 Trade Associations	216
2 Union of Shop, Distributive and Allied Workers	223
3 Government Departments	224
4 Industrial Training Boards	225
5 Other Organisations	228
6 Statistical Sources of Reference	233
7 Trade Press	235
BIBLIOGRAPHY	239
INDEX	241