

Handbook of the
Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller 3rd Collection

The background of the page features a traditional Chinese ink wash painting of bamboo stalks and leaves. The bamboo stalks are vertical, with distinct nodes, and the leaves are long and pointed, overlapping each other. The calligraphy is written in a cursive style (caoshu) in black ink. The characters are arranged in three vertical columns. The rightmost column contains the characters '之', '空', '玉', and '白' from top to bottom. The middle column contains '風', '澗', '松', and '石' from top to bottom. The leftmost column contains '雅', '翠', '竹', and '清' from top to bottom. The overall composition is balanced and aesthetically pleasing, typical of traditional Chinese art.
