

Modern Italy

1860–1980

Visions of the country

7	Introduction
9	The future of the past Umberto Eco
	Chapter one Historical utopias
23	Patriotism Franco Della Peruta
29	The Mafia and anti-Mafia project Nicola Tranfaglia
32	Italy as a power
37	The dream of peace
42	Monarchy and Republic: predictions
47	The coup and the authoritarian solution
	Chapter two Political strategies and outlooks
51	The danger of Fascism Mario Spinella
57	The dream of revolution Salvatore Veca
63	Religion and politics
68	The dream of socialism
74	Doom merchants from the man-in-the-street to the Radicals
78	The regions and decentralization
80	The historic compromise
	Chapter three Economic strategies
83	European unification: clashes and conflicts among countries Valerio Castronovo
89	The centre-left project Giorgio Galli
93	Autarky Isabella Pezzini
97	The utopia of free trade
101	"Fair" taxation
105	Corporatism
107	Nationalization
	Chapter four Production forecasts
111	The second industrialization Rosario Romeo
119	The revitalization of agriculture Giovanni Posani
125	The utopia of the enlightened bourgeoisie and the "State of Milan"
131	Agrarian reform
135	The Fund for Southern Italy
138	The safe and ecological car
143	Oil in the Po Valley
	Chapter five Civil and social utopias
147	The myth of progress Giorgio Fabre
155	What do these young people want? Carlo Formenti
161	The hopes of the Council Gianni Baget Bozzo
167	Divorce, abortion and the new civil society Laura Balbo
171	Race
175	The eradication of disease
178	The new Middle Ages
	Chapter six Environmental utopias
181	The myth of the "Italian" city Claudia Conforti
187	The great unfulfilled projects Vittorio Gregotti
193	Ecology Marcello Cini
198	Running the trains on time
202	Fascism and the new towns
206	Nuclear power plants and clean energy
211	The prediction of natural calamities
	Chapter seven Cultural hopes
215	The utopia of pure language Maria Corti
219	The new museums Carlo Bertelli
225	University reform Enrico Pattaro
231	Art and society
237	Literacy
241	The "Italian" avant-garde
249	The death of art
	Chapter eight The long-term future of the mass media
255	The apocalyptic and the integrated, twenty years later Gianfranco Bettetini
263	The reform of the RAI: lost utopia Giovanni Bechelloni
267	The ephemeral Omar Calabrese
273	The myth of the "popular"
276	Freedom of the press
279	Cinecittà
283	The democratic press
285	Synoptic table (1860-1985)
539	Index
543	Photographic sources				