

Reflections ON ASEAN

MAHATHIR MOHAMAD

Contents

Foreword vii

1	Asean's commitment to growth and stability	1
2	Asean: A regional approach towards stability	13
3	Europeans can invest in Asean with confidence	21
4	Seeking new frontiers for sustained growth	31
5	Asean and the Pacific community	39
6	Moderate achievement in Asean's economic cooperation	49
7	Asean: Challenges and opportunities	57
8	Asean's focus in the early years was political	65
9	Asean economic cooperation needs to be intensified	71
10	Asean-Japan cooperation beneficial	81
11	Asean parliamentarians has role in promoting democracy	87
12	Need for Asean to work closely in agriculture	95
13	The impact of a changing world on Asean-European Community relations	101

14	Asean and the world economy: The challenge of change	111
15	Asean: Good return of growth and stability	125
16	Asean: Daunting task to cope with information volume	137
17	Asean in the 1990s and beyond	145
18	Asean should study the benefits of the East Asian Economic Grouping (EAEG)	159
19	Asean among the most successful of regional groupings	169
20	U.S.-Asean Business Council plays pivotal role	177
21	Trade and culture can foster greater Asean unity	185
22	Enhancing intra-Asean investment in agriculture	191
23	Asean proves regional cooperation beneficial	197
24	Asean and East Asian countries should enhance cooperation	207
25	Greater economic integration in Asean	213
26	A Private sector salute to Asean	221
27	Asean's response to financial crisis	231
28	Asean's Vision 2020: Moving forward	237
29	Asean: An economic and political force today	249
30	Asean: Surviving in the New Economy	259
31	China: A challenge or an opportunity for Asean?	269
32	Asia in 2020: Challenges and prospects	281
33	Malaysia totally committed to Asean	293

Index 297