

CAMBRIDGE GENERAL
CERTIFICATE OF EDUCATION (G.C.E.)
ADVANCED 'A' LEVEL EXAMINATION

History of South-East Asia (1824–1965)

Joginder Singh Jessy

Contents

Preface	iii
Introduction	xiv
Acknowledgements	xxiv
PART ONE: THE PRE-1824 BACKGROUND	1
Chapter One In Quest of the Legendary Spice Islands	3
The Catholic powers in the East; Vasco da Gama at Calicut; Columbus discovers the New World; The Treaty of Tordesillas.
Chapter Two The Portuguese in the East	11
Initial Portuguese-Indian contacts; Cabral at Calicut; de Almeida as Viceroy in India; The Persian Gulf region at the beginning of the 16th century; Alfonso d'Albuquerque as Viceroy; Diplomatic policy of D'Albuquerque – to seal the main exits from the Indian Ocean to the Middle East; The conquest of Melaka (1511); Results of the capture of Melaka.
Chapter Three The Spaniards in the Philippine Islands	20
Magellan in the Visayas; The Treaty of Saragossa (1529); The Spanish-American War; The galleon trade; Christianity in the Philippines; The Philippines under Spanish rule; The struggle with the Moros; The British occupation of Manila.
Chapter Four The Dutch in the East	31
Reasons for the arrival of the Dutch in the East; The political policies of King Philip II; Economic causes; The Dutch arrive in the East Indies; The appointment of a Governor-General; Monopolistic policy of the V.O.C.; Jan P. Coen as Governor-General; The fall of the V.O.C.; Daendals as Governor of Java; Effects of British occupation
Chapter Five The Rise of British Power in India	42
General background; The Western impact; Bengal under the East India Company; The Maratha-British conflict.

Chapter Six Successor States to the Melaka Sultanate (1511–1786) 53

General background, Western contacts with the Malay Peninsula; The disintegration of the empire of Melaka; Beginnings of the Sultanate of Johore; The rise of Aceh; Melaka under the Dutch (1641); Trengganu; Pahang; The Minangkabau and Bugis in the Johore Empire; Raja Kechil of Siak; The Bugis in the Malay States – Selangor; Kedah; Perak; Raja Haji.

Chapter Seven Anglo-Dutch Rivalry in the East 71

General background; The E.I.C. in the East Indies; John Jourdain as Governor of E.I.C. factory at Bantam; The Anglo-Dutch Treaty of 1619; E.I.C. decision to withdraw to the Coromandel; Effects of the rise of Madras; Madras-Bantam trade; The East India Company at Cambodia.

Chapter Eight Burma 83

General background; Racial composition – The Pyu; The Mons (Tailings); The Shans; The coming of the Europeans; The British in Burma; The end of the Toungoo Dynasty; The rise of Alaungpaya; The Burmese – Siamese Wars; British relations with Bodawpaya (1782–1819); Anglo-Burmese relations (1795–1824); Causes of Anglo-Burmese friction (1811–1824).

Chapter Nine Siam (Modern Thailand) 93

General background; Siam and its neighbours; Western contacts with Siam; The French in the East; The reign of King Narai (1657–88); Constant Phaulkon; The beginnings of the Chakri Dynasty.

Chapter Ten Indo-China: Vietnam; Cambodia and Laos 101

General background; Vietnam; Nguyen expansion into Cambodia; The Tayson Uprising; Nguyen Anh and Pigneau de Behain; Nguyen Anh as Emperor Gia Long; Laos (Lan Chang); Cambodia.

PART TWO: THE WESTERN IMPACT (1824–1860)

Chapter Eleven The Anglo-Dutch Treaty of 1824 113

The base at Balambangan; The British acquisition of Penang; The trade factor; Reasons of naval strategy; The Sultan of Kedah and Captain Francis Light; The acquisition; The role and significance of Penang; The British acquisition of Singapore; trade factor; The politics of the Johore Empire; The role of Raffles; Consolidation of the settlement; The Anglo-Dutch Treaty of 1824; Significance of the treaty.

Chapter Twelve The First Anglo-Burmese War (1824-26) 134

Introduction: General background to the war; The Indo-Burmese border disputes; The attitude of the Burmese; British preparedness; Fear of the French; The immediate cause of the War; The war in Arakan (1824–25); The Rangoon front; Maha Bandula at Rangoon; Towards Ava; The Treaty of Yandabo (1826); Results of the war – territorial; financial; Loss of National prestige.

Chapter Thirteen The Second Anglo-Burmese War (1852)

General background; Henry Burney in Burma (1830–38); The Tharawaddy Rebellion (1837); Deterioration of Anglo-Burmese relations; Dalhousie and the Second Anglo-Burmese War; The annexation of the old kingdom of Pegu.

Chapter Fourteen Indonesia: The Post-Napoleonic Period 162

General background; The Commissioners – General at work; British delay in handing back Dutch colonies; Lowering of Dutch prestige; Acute financial problems; The liberal solution of the Commissioners – Administrative, Land taxation, Judicial problems, Abolition of social evils; Baron Capellan as Governor-General (1819–1825); Foundation of Singapore (1819); World slump in sugar and coffee; Outbreak of uprisings; The Anglo-Dutch Treaty (1824); The Java War (1825–30); Abolition of sale of land to Europeans and Chinese; The introduction of tolls by the Government; Abolition of the land-lease system; Grievances of Dipa Negara – Religious grievances, Succession dispute; Results of the Java War (1825–30); The Culture System and the New Economic Policy; Failings of the system; Results of the above abuse; End of the Culture System.

Chapter Fifteen The French in Indo-China 174

General background; French occupation of Cochin-China; Cambodia and South Vietnam (c1850); Relations between Cambodia, Siam and Vietnam. The Red River route between Tongking and Yunnan. The decline of Lan Chang (Laos); End of an independent Vietnam.

Chapter Sixteen The British in Borneo 185

General background; The Sarawak revolt; James Brooke (1841–68); Beginning of Brooke-Hashim friendship; James Brooke as Raja of Sarawak; Treaty of Sarawak; 1842; Raja Brooke consolidates his position; The attack on the Saribas and Skrang pirates; Treaty of Sarawak (1846); The northern expedition; Treaty of Labuan (1846); Treaty of Friendship and Commerce, (Brunei) 1847; Raja Brooke as Governor of Labuan; The Battle of Batang Murau; The Chinese Uprising (1857); Trouble from the old Malay ruling class; The last expedition. Conclusion.

Chapter Seventeen Early British-Kedah-Siam Relations (1826–1855)	204
Siamese relations with the Northern Malay States; The Burney mission to Bangkok; Results of the Anglo-Dutch and Burney Treaties; Anderson's Treaty with Perak (1825); King Mongkut and Siamese independence; The Bowring Treaty (1855); Effects of the Bowring Treaty.
Chapter Eighteen The Transfer of the Straits Settlements (1786–1857)	214
General background; Neglect by the Indian Government; Unrestricted immigration and free trade; Use of convict labour; Progress of the Malay States; Contents of Petition for the Transfer; General causes; The immediate cause; The Currency Act of 1855; The Petition in the British Houses of Parliament; The Final transfer (1862–67).
Chapter Nineteen The Policy of Non-Intervention (1824–74)	226
General background; The administration of law and order; The Melaka land problem; Suppression of piracy; The Naning War (1831–32); Civil war in Pahang.
Chapter Twenty Singapore – Emporium of the Orient	236
Opening of the Suez Canal (1869); Development of Singapore; Geographical position; Free port with unrestricted immigration; The suppression of piracy; End of monopoly of China trade; Technological developments; Opening of Siam to European trade; Opening of the Suez Canal.
PART THREE: THE QUEST FOR CONCESSIONS (1860–1914)	245
Chapter Twenty-One The Annexation of Upper Burma	247
General background; King Mindon Min (1853–78); Mindon – British relations; Commercial Treaty of 1862; The Fytche Treaty (1867); Burmese missions to foreign countries; Commercial convention between France and Burma (1873); Succession of King Thibaw; Deterioration of Anglo-Burmese relations; The Rippon Mission; The Simla Conference; Franco-Burmese relations; The Bombay-Burma Trading Company; The deportation of King Thibaw; The annexation of Upper Burma.

Chapter Twenty-Two Malaya – The Forward Movement – I 263

General background; Unsettled conditions in Perak; The Larut Wars: The First Larut War (1848); The Second Larut War (1861–67); The Third Larut War (1872); The Perak succession dispute; The Fourth Larut War (1873); Civil war in Selangor; The Negeri Sembilan disputes; British intervention in the Malay States (1874); Reasons for change of policy; Factors responsible for intervention: Results of the Industrial Revolution; boom in world demand for tin; Threat from rival European countries; Immediate causes for intervention; Perak – The Pangkor Engagement; Results of the Pangkor Engagement; Selangor; Sungai Ujong; Pahang.

Chapter Twenty-three Malaya: The Forward Movement – II 280

The aftermath of intervention; The Residential System; Advantages of the Residential System; The murder of Birch; The Pahang (Bahaman) uprising (1895–96); Sir Frederick Weld as Governor (1880–87); The formation of the Federated Malay States (1896); General background; Factors responsible for the formation of the F.M.S.; The Treaty of Federation, (1895); The Federation in operation; Main defects; Anglo-Siamese-French relations up to 1909; King Chulalongkorn (1886–1910); The Anglo-French Declaration (1896); The Anglo-Siamese Secret Convention (1897); The Frontier Agreement (1899); The Anglo-Siamese Declaration (1902); Aftermath of the Declaration of 1902; Siamese relations with the British and the French; The Treaty of Bangkok (1909); Thailand as a buffer state.

Chapter Twenty-Four The Forward Movement in Sarawak and British North Borneo (1868–1941) 303

Succession of Charles Brooke (1868); Request for the Baram Valley; The origin of the North Borneo Company (1881); British North Borneo (1878); Formation of the (Chartered) British North Borneo Company (1881); Brunai – A British Protectorate; Brunai – The final partition; Brunai under the British; Sarawak – system of administration; Pacification of the interior; Abolition of slavery; The succession of Raja Vyner Brooke; The Mat Salleh Uprising (1894–1900).

Chapter Twenty-Five Indonesia: The Dutch Forward Movement 320

General background; The abolition of the cultures; The Accounts Law (1864); End of compulsory labour (1865); The Sugar Law of 1870; The Agrarian Law of 1870; The effects of the Liberal Policy; The Ethical Policy (1902–20); Failure of the Ethical Policy; The absorption of the Outer Islands; The Minangkabau; The Padri Movement; The First Padri War (1822–1825); The Second Padri War (1831); The Minangkabau War; The conquest of Aceh.

PART FOUR: BETWEEN THE TWO WORLD WARS (1914–1945) 333

Chapter Twenty-Six Pre-War Malaya (1900–1941) – I Political and Economic Changes 335

The policy of decentralization; Failure of Resident – General to implement agreement; Protests by Sultan Idris of Perak; Proposals of Sir Lawrence Guillemard; Reforms of Cecil Clementi; The policy of unification; Economic changes (1800–1941); Development of mineral resources; The rise of the tin mining industry in the 19th century; Beginnings of Chinese participation in tin mining; Political consequence of the rise of tin mining; Developments in the industry (1874–1941); The main impact of tin mining on Malayan/Malaysian history; AGRICULTURE – Its role and significance during the 19th century; Agriculture and the development of communications; Pepper and gambier; Tapioca; Palm-oil; The development of the rubber plantation industry; The impact of rubber; The Rubber Research Institute; The collapse of the pioneer cash crops; The rise of rice cultivation (1900–1941).

Chapter Twenty-Seven Pre-War Malaya (1900–1941) – II Social Advancement and Development in Communications 358

Social changes; general population growth and distribution (1800–1941); Factors for population growth; Features of population distribution; General features of population growth and distribution; Immigration: Types of immigrants; Patterns of immigration; Methods and modes of immigration; The effects of immigration on the population of Malaya; Health Services; Education: Education for the Malays; Chinese education; Tamil education; Education in the English medium; Higher education; Main features of educational development up to 1941; Teachers' training; Period of post-war reconstruction; The Barnes Report; The Act of 1952; The development of communications in the 19th and 20th centuries: The development of railways; The growth of roads; Other forms of Communications; Shipping; Air communications. Advancement in British Borneo: Social changes: Population and immigration: Social Welfare and education; Development in communications.

Chapter Twenty-eight Malaya: Rise of Nationalism Before 1941 377

Introduction: The Malays and British colonial rule; The effects of British policy on Malay society; The development of Malay nationalism up to 1945; The primary phase (1876–1920); The secondary phase: (1920–1941); The third phase (1941–1945); Main events and development; Factors responsible for the rise of Malay nationalism; The impact of modernization and westernization; The impact of the Islamic revivalist movement; The Rise of nationalism in other parts of the world; The growing threat to the Malay position; Rights and future; The impact of education; The rise of the western educated class; Political activities of the non-Malays before 1941: – The Chinese; The Indians.

Chapter Twenty-Nine Pre-War Nationalism in South-East Asia 389

Nationalism in Indonesia.

Boedi Oetomo and the Muhammadiyah; Sarekat Islam; The National Indies Party; The Volksraad (Dewan Rakyat or Peoples' Council); Militant nationalism; The emergence of new parties (1926–42).

Nationalism in Burma.

The Reforms of 1909; The Dyarchy of 1923; The separation from India (1937); Burmese Nationalism (1937–42).

Nationalism in Indo-China.

Nationalism during the 20th century; Extreme nationalism (1927–37); Siam (Thailand):

The Revolution of 1932;

Nationalism in the Philippines.

Under Spanish rule; The colonial administration of the United States.

Chapter Thirty Japan in South-East Asia (1941–45) 406

The Malay Peninsula under the Japanese

Japanese policy in South-East Asia; The war in Malaya; The Japanese campaign; Japanese policy as rulers of Malaya; Developments under Japanese rule; The effects of the Japanese occupation; The new order of Japan (1942–45); The Kempeitai; Economic planning; Japan – the Light of Asia; Anti-Chinese policy of the Japanese; Position of the Indians under Japanese rule. Thailand during the Second World War; Indo-China during World War II; The Japanese in the Philippines; The Japanese occupation of Indonesia; The Japanese in Burma.

PART FIVE: POST-WAR DEVELOPMENTS (1945–1965) 431

Chapter Thirty-One The Emergence of Independent States 433

Introduction; Burma; Indonesia; Indo-China – Vietnam; Cambodia; Laos;

Chapter Thirty-Two Towards Malayan Independence (1945–59) 443

The Malayan Union Scheme (1945–48) Background to the Union scheme; Post-war British plans for Malaya; Reasons for the Malayan Union scheme; MacMichael in Malaya; Malay opposition to the Malayan Union; Formation of UMNO; Reasons for Malay opposition; The position of the Rulers; The granting of citizenship rights to non-Malays; From Union to Federation; The Constitutional Working Committee; The Constitutional Consultative Committee; AMCJA – PUTERA opposition to the Federal proposals; The Federation of Malaya Agreement, 1948: Towards self-government; Creating a national system of politics (1948–1952); Absence of inter-communal relations; Need for inter-communal co-operation; The Malayan Chinese Association; Political reforms; Dato Onn and the I.M.F.; The origin of the Alliance; The Anti-Penyerahan movements; The Penang breakaway movement (1948–49); The second Penang secessionist movement (1953–57); The Johore secession controversy (1955–56); The Kelantan secession movement (1955–56); Preparing a time table for Malayan independence (1953–57); New British policy; UMNO demands elections in 1954; Alliance boycott and British compromise on Federal Council issue; The general elections of 1955; The Merdeka Talks (1956); The Baling Talks (1955); The Reid Constitutional Commission; The Proclamation of Independence: The Emergency: The Communist Insurrection. (1948–60); The causes of the Emergency; Communist aims and strategy; The course of the Emergency; General Templer at the helm; Military activities; Civilian successes; The cost of the Emergency; The effects of the Emergency.

Chapter Thirty-Three The Emergence of the State of Singapore and Malaysia 480

The emergence of the State of Singapore (1946–1959); The Rendel Commission; The Elections of 1955; The Marshall administration; Lim Yew Hock as Chief Minister; The State of Singapore; The lands of Malaysia in and after 1957; Sarawak-agitation against cession; March towards self-government; British North Borneo (Sabah); Brunei; Proposals for the creation of Malaysia; Reasons for the proposal; The Communist threat; Racial politics and balances; The independence factor; Decline of British power; Opposition to Malaysia; Main steps towards the Malaysia; Joint statement of Tunku Abdul Rahman and Harold Macmillan; The secession of Singapore (1965).

Chapter Thirty-Four Post-War Development in Education 502

Period of post-war reconstruction; The Barnes Report; The Act of 1952; The Razak Report (1956); National Language; Common syllabus; Sarawak; Sabah; Education in Modern Malaysia (1961–65); Education Programmes under the 1st and 2nd Malaysia plans; Implementation of Bahasa Malaysia in schools; University education; University of Malaya; University Kebangsaan Malaysia.

Appendices

Appendix 1	Quedah, 1800 treaty with the King of Quedah, 1800 confirmed 1802.	513
Appendix 2	JOHORE, 1819. Treaty of Friendship and Alliance. Sultan of Johore and Dato Tummungong Sri Maharaja Abdul Rahman.	516
Appendix 3	The Anglo-Dutch Treaty or Treaty of Holland (1824).	518
Appendix 4	The Treaty of Yandabo (1826).	522
Appendix 5	Borneo (Brunai) 1847. Treaty of Friendship and Commerce between Borneo (Brunai) 1847.	526
Appendix 6	The Burney Treaty or Treaty between Great Britain and Siam. Signed on June 20th, 1826.	530
Appendix 7	Low's Treaty with Perak, 1826. No. 2	535
Appendix 8	Treaty with Naning, 1801.	538
Appendix 9	Treaty between Burma and British India (1867).	542
Appendix 10	The Commercial Convention between France and Burma (1873).	546
Appendix 11	Supplementary Convention between France and Burma (1885).	549
Appendix 12	The Sungei Ujong Treaties. Sungei Ujong, 1874 21st April, 1874.	556
Appendix 13	Engagement Entered into by the Chiefs of Perak at Pulo Pangkor. Dated 20th January, 1874	558
Appendix 14	Siam, 1902. Declaration and Draft Agreement, 1902. Kelantan and Trengganu.	561
Appendix 15	Siam, 1909. Treaty Between Great Britain and Siam. Signed at Bangkok, 10th March, 1909.	564
Appendix 16	British North Borneo, 1881. Charter granted to the British North Borneo, Westminster, November 1st, 1881	567
Appendix 17	Agreement with the Sultan of Brunai, signed at Brunai, 17th September, 1886.	576
Appendix 18	Agreement for the Constitution of a Federal Council, 1909.	579
Appendix 19	Proclamation of Independence.	583
	Notes and References.	585
	Bibliography.	587
	Index.	590