

D1

The Name of Brooke

The End of White Rajah Rule in Sarawak

R. H. W. REECE

Contents

Foreword by Anthony Brooke	vii
Acknowledgements	ix
Preface	xi
Appendixes	xvi
Maps	xvii
Plates	xviii
Tables	xx
Abbreviations	xxi
Notes on Terms	xxii
Dramatis Personae	xxiii
Introduction	xxv
I THE WHITE RAJAHS	1
The Brooke Raj	1
The Second Rajah	4
Constitutional Changes	8
Sarawak's International Status	10
The Brooke Tradition	11
II 'LA PIERRE D'ACHOPPEMENT'	13
The Dynastic Background	13
Esca Brooke-Daykin	18
'The Baron'	19
The Demotion of Anthony Brooke	29
MacBryan's Return	32
The Brunei Negotiations	34
The Turtle Islands	36
III THE CRISIS OF BROOKE GOVERNMENT	40
The Problem of Executive Authority	40
The Administration of Justice	44

	Depression and Attempted Reform	47
	'Things are Different in Sarawak . . .'	51
	Rubber Restriction	53
	Asun's Rebellion	56
	The Bureaucratic Centralizers	57
	Anthony Brooke and 'The Sarawak Crisis' of 1939	61
	The Inquiry and its Outcome	64
	Anthony Brooke as Rajah Muda	66
IV	THE 1941 CONSTITUTION	72
	Origins of the Constitution	72
	The Secret Agreement	75
	The New Constitution	78
	Reactions to the Constitution	82
	The Constitution and the Succession	87
V	SARAWAK'S RELATIONS WITH BRITAIN, 1934-1941	94
	The Colonial Office Background	94
	The Popular Image of Sarawak	98
	The Breen Reports and the Question of Secondment	100
	Lunch at Leicester Square	101
	The Appointment of a General Adviser	102
	Crystallization of a Policy on Sarawak	108
	The Scott Case	114
	The Supplementary Agreement	115
	The Colonial Office and the 1941 Constitution	119
	Sarawak and Defence Planning	121
VI	THE ORIGINS OF INDIGENOUS POLITICAL ORGANIZATION, 1930-1945	128
	Education	128
	Participation in Government	130
	Fajar Sarawak and the Persatuan Melayu	132
	The Dayaks Co-operative Society	137
	Ibans in the Junior Service	139
	The China Distress Relief Fund	141
	The Japanese Period	142
	Collaboration	150
	Chinese Nationalism	158
VII	THE CLOSING OF SARAWAK'S OPTIONS, 1942-1945	163
	The Rajah in Australia	164
	Anthony Brooke and the Colonial Office	170
	The Colonial Office and Borneo Planning	172
	Formal Negotiations on Sarawak's Future	176
	Meanwhile, in Colombo . . .	178
	The Provisional Government	181

CONTENTS

xv

	The Final Phase	185
	Terms of Cession	187
	The Rajah's Proposal	188
	The Rajah's Reasons	191
VIII	THE LEGITIMIZATION OF CESSION	198
	MacBryan's Visit	198
	The Announcement of Cession	203
	Reactions in Sarawak	205
	The Sarawak Issue	210
	Arrangements for Cession	214
	The Rajah's Return	218
	The Expedition of H.M.S. Pickle	221
	The Council Negri Meeting	229
IX	THE ANTI-CESSION MOVEMENT	246
	The Anti-Cession Parties	246
	The Colonial Government	252
	The Anti-Cession Campaign	257
	The Campaign Renewed	260
	The Banning of Anthony Brooke	264
	Circular No. 9	267
	The MNU Split	272
	Epilogue	278
	Appendixes	284
	Glossary	306
	Bibliography	307
	Index	321

Appendixes

I	THE INTERNATIONAL STATUS OF SARAWAK	284
1.	Brunei's Cession of Sarawak to James Brooke	284
(i)	Transfer by Pangeran Muda Hassim of the Government of Sarawak, 1841	284
(ii)	Appointment by Sultan of Brunei of James Brooke to Govern as His Representative, 1842	285
2.	The Independent Government of Sarawak	285
(i)	Minutes of a conversation between the Datu Bandar, the Datu Maun, the Datu Tumangong and the Tuan Khatib, Members of Council of State of Sarawak, and Mr St. John, Consul-General, 25th October, 1855	285
(ii)	Handed by the Rajah of Sarawak to Mr Spenser St. John, Consul-General in the Island of Borneo, 25th October, 1855	287
(iii)	Letter from Spenser St. John Esqre, Consul-General in the Island of Borneo, to the Raja of Sarawak, 1856	287
3.	Sarawak's Treaties with Britain	288
(i)	The Treaty of 1888	288
(ii)	The Supplementary Agreement of 1941	289
4.	Opinions on the Legal Status of Sarawak	290
(i)	Opinion of the Colonial Office and Foreign Office, May 1945	290
(ii)	Opinion of Wynn Parry and Arnold D. McNair, September 1945	290
II	THE BROOKE SUCCESSION	298
(i)	The Political Will of James Brooke, 1867	298
(ii)	The Political Will of Charles Brooke, 1913	298
(iii)	Vyner Brooke's Accession Oath, 1918	299

III THE LEGALIZATION OF CESSION	299
1. MacBryan's Abortive Attempt, January 1946	299
(i) MacBryan's Agreement with the Datu Patinggi, 5 January 1946	299
(ii) Supreme Council Order authorizing the Rajah to negotiate Cession	300
(iii) Council Negri Order repealing the 1941 Constitution	301
2. The Second Attempt, April–June 1946	302
(i) Restoration of the 1941 Constitution: The Two Orders	302
(ii) The Cession Order of the Council Negri	303
(iii) The Instrument of Cession	304
(iv) The Royal Order-in-Council	305

Maps

Sarawak and Brunei, showing successive Boundaries (After S. Runciman, The White Rajahs , Cambridge University Press)	front endpaper
British Borneo, 1946 (After L. R. Wright, The Origins of British Colonialism in Borneo , Hong Kong Univer- sity Press)	back endpaper