

POLITICAL THEORY

EDDY ASIRVATHAM
K.K. MISRA

CONTENTS

Chapter	Pages
1. The Nature, Scope and Methods of Political Science Terminology and Scope, 1. Value of a study of Political Thought, 5. Political Science and its relation to Allied Sciences, 6. Is Political Science a Science?, 12. Methods of Political Science, 13.	1—19
2. Politics as a Social Process Politics as Political Activity, 20. Different approaches to Politics, 22. Politics as a Concept of Power, 24. The concept of Political System, 26. Political Socialisation and Political Culture, 28. Liberal and Marxian views of Politics, 29.	20—39
3. History, Political Theory and Ideology Behaviouralism and History, 40. Behaviouralism and Ideology, 42. Debate on the End of Ideology, 44. Dialectical Materialism and History, 46. Marxist Theory of Ideology, 48.	40—51
4. The Nature of the State Distinction between the State, Society, Govt., Nation and Nationality, 53. One sided or false views of the State, 56. A positive statement of the State, 59. Essential elements of the State, 60. The Organic Theory of the State, 62. Value and Limitations, 64. The State according to Laski and Marx, 65.	52—70
5. The Origin of the State The Theory of Divine Origin, 71. The Social Contract Theory, 73. The Force Theory, 76. The Patriarchal and Matriarchal Theories, 78. The Historical or Evolutionary Theory of the State, 80. Maciver on the Evolution of the State, 84. Marxist Theory of State Origin, 84. A Liberal critique of the Marxist Theory, 91.	71—92
6. The Historical Development of the State The Evolution of the State, 93. The Early Empire in the Orient, 93. The Greek City-State, 93. The Feudal State, 95. The National State of Modern Times, 97. World Federation, 98. General features of State Development, 99.	93—99
7. The Social Contract Theory of Hobbes, Locke and Rousseau. (a) The State of Nature and the Law of Nature, 100. (b) Nature of the Contract, 101. (c) Sovereignty, 103. (d) Type of State and Govt., 104. (e) Individual Liberty and Theory of Rights, 106. Truth in the Theories of Hobbes, Locke and Rousseau, 107. The Doctrine of General Will, 108. How General Will is generated, 110. Characteristics of the General Will, 110. Truth in the Doctrine of the General Will, 111. Liberal ideas of Hobbes, Locke and Rousseau, 112.	100—114
8. The Justification and End of the State The Justification of the State, 115. The Anarchistic Theory, 117. The Religions View, 119. Physical Force, 119. The	115—130

Chapter	Pages
Contract View, 120. The Utility Theory, 121. Necessity of Organisation, 122. The Psychological View, 122. The Idealistic View, 122. The End of the State, 123. The State and Classes, 126.
9. The Proper Sphere of State Action	181—188
The Individualistic Theory, 131. The Socialistic Theory, 136. The Idealistic Theory, 138. Other Theories, 140. Classification of Governmental Functions, 143. State Action in India, 145. Liberal Theory of State Intervention in Economic Life, 146. Marxist Theory of the Function of the State, 150. Function of the State in Capitalist Society, 153. Function of the State in Socialist Society, 154. State in Developing Societies, 156.
10. The Welfare State	159—169
The Origin and Development of the Welfare State Ideal, 159. Definition and Nature of the Welfare State, 161. Hindrances to the Realisation of a Welfare State and their removal, 162. Conception of a Socialist Society and Welfare State, 164. Democratic Freedom and Socialist Planning, 167. New Collectivistic conception of Freedom in a Welfare State, 167. Communism and the Ideal of Welfare State, 168. A Socialist Commonwealth of Nations can promote welfare of the Peoples of the World, 168.
11. Theory of State : Its Comparative Dimensions	170—180
Empiricist Attack on the Notion of State, 170. Some Recent Perspectives on the State, 172. Comparative Dimensions of the Theory of State, 175. A Liberal Typology of Contemporary States, 177.
12. Nature of State in Capitalist Society	181—190
Mystification of State Power in Capitalism, 181. Stages in the Evolution of the Capitalist State, 183. The State in Late Capitalism, 185. The State System and the State Elite, 187.
13. Nature of State in Socialist Systems	191—201
Theoretical basis of the State in Socialist Societies, 191. Characteristic features of the State in the Soviet Union, 193. Development of the Theory of Soviet State, 195. People's Democracy as a Transitional State, 198. From New Democracy to Socialist State in China, 198.
14. Comparing the Nature and Role of the State in Developed and Developing Societies	202—214
Nature of the State in Developing Societies, 202. Role of the State in Developing Societies, 204. The State in Developed Capitalist Societies, 206. The State in Developed Socialist Societies, 208. Comparing States in Developed and Developing Societies, 210.
15. Theories of Rights	215—227
The Theory of Natural Rights, 215. The Legal Theory of Rights, 217. The Historical Theory of Rights, 219. The Social Welfare or the Social Expediency Theory of Rights, 220. The Idealistic or Personality Theory of Rights, 220. Rights, Liberty and Equality, 222. Danger to Rights in the Modern State, 223. Rights as Privileges of Ruling Class under Capitalism,

Chapter	Pages
lism, 225. Denial of Economic Equality in Capitalist Society, 226. Safeguards for Property Rights, 226.
16. Particular Rights	220—259
(a) The Right to Life, 228. Implications of the Right to Life, 229. (b) The Right to Liberty, 230. Meaning of Liberty 230. Types of Liberty, 231. Liberty and Authority, 234. Liberty and Equality, 235. State Regulation of Liberty, 236. Punishment, 242. (c) The Right to Property, 245. Theories of Property, 247. Particular Rights according to Laski, 253. Right to Work, 253. Right to Education, 254. Right to Political Power, 254. Right to Free Speech, 255. Political Liberty and Economic Equality, 256. Marx on the Nature of Civil Liberties, 256. Marxist Theory of Property, 257.
17. Liberty and Equality	260—268
H.J. Laski: Liberty and Equality in Political and Economic Spheres, 260. The Pluralistic Phase 261; The Fabian Socialist Phase, 262. The Pro-Marxist Phase, 265.
18. The Concept of Equality	269—286
R.H. Tawney. The Right to Equality, 269. The Social Ideals of Equality, 270. The Essence of Equality, 272. The Social Realities of Inequality, 275. The Realizability of the Egalitarian goals, 277. The Concept of Equality, 279. Legal dimension of Equality, 281. Political dimension of Equality, 282. Socio-Economic dimension of Equality, 283. Liberty and Equality, 285.
19. Sovereignty	287—302
Definition of Sovereignty, 287. Characteristics of Sovereignty, 287. Different meanings of Sovereignty, 289. Location of Sovereignty, 291. John Austin's Theory of Sovereignty, 292. The Pluralistic criticism of the Theory of Sovereignty, 295.
20. Political Pluralism	303—325
Definition of Terms, 303. Factors responsible for the rise of Pluralism, 303. Pluralistic Thinkers, 304. Pluralism in England, 305. Pluralism in N. America, 306. Pluralism in Europe, 307. Criticism and Appreciation, 308. Conclusion, 311. Pluralistic view of Laski, 312. Intellectual roots of Pluralism, 314. Sovereignty as a Fiction, 314. The State as First Among Equals, 315. The State as a Power System, 316. Administrative Decentralisation, 316. Structure of Pluralistic State, 317. Proposed structure of Nationalized Industry 323. Criticism of Guild Socialism and Syndicalism, 324. Economic Democracy and Social Justice, 324.
21. Law	326—345
The Philosophy of Law-(Historical), 326. Schools of Jurisprudence, 327. Nature of Law, 329. Definitions of Law, 329. Sources of Law, 330. Types of Laws, 332. International Law, 335. Law and Morality, 339. Common Ground between Law and Morality, 341. Law and the State, according to Laski, 341. The Content of Law, 343. Legal System and Class Structure, 344. Judiciary in England and America, 344. Ethical test of the Legal System, 345.

22. The Concept of Justice

346—361

Development of the Concept of Justice, 346. Sources of the Idea of Justice, 347. Legal Dimension of Justice, 348. Political Dimension of Justice, 344. Social Dimension of Justice, 349. Economic Dimension of Justice, 349. Relation between Liberty, Equality and Justice, 350. Justice and the Distribution of Income, 351. John Rawls: A Theory of Justice, 353. A Theory of Liberal—Democratic Justice, 356.

23. Classification of States and Constitutions

362—383

Classification of States, 362. Plato and Aristotle, 362. After Aristotle, 364. A Classification of States, as suggested by Bryce, Jenks and Marriot, 366. Nature and Definition of Constitutions, 367. Necessity of a Constitution, 367. Kinds of Constitutions 368. The Written Constitution, 368. The Un-written Constitution, 368. Flexible Constitution, 369. Rigid Constitution, 369. Unitary and Federal States, 371. Merits of a Unitary State, 372. Demerits of a Unitary State, 372. The Federal State, 372. Requisites of Federation, 374. Distribution of Powers in a Federation, 374. Merits of a Federation, 375. Defects inherent in the Federal System, 375. Modern Tendencies in Federal Govt., 376. A Confederation, 376. Presidential and Non-Presidential Forms of Govt., 377. Democratic and Dictatorial Governments, 378. Forms of Government according to Laski, 379. The Rise of Middle Class, 379. Class Character of Absolute Monarchy, 380. Feudal and Bourgeois Monarchies, 380. Class origin of Democratic Republic, 301. Capitalist Democracy in America, 382. Distinction between Fascist and Communist forms of Dictatorship 383. Socialist Democracy as Laski's Ideal, 383.

24. Organisation of Government

384—445

The Executive, 384. The Cabinet, Parliamentary or Responsible Executive, 388. Merits of the Cabinet System, 389. Demerits of the Cabinet System, 389. The Presidential Executive, 390. Single and Plural Executive, 391. Tenure of Executive, 391. Powers and Functions of the Executive, 392. The Civil Service, 395. Definition, history, recruitment, training, conditions of Service and functions of a Civil Service, 395-400. Test of a Govt. System of Civil Service, 400. The Legislature, 402. Organisation of Legislature, 403. Are Second Chambers necessary? 404. Powers and Functions of the Legislature, 406. Legislative Procedure, 407. The Committee System, 408. Duration of Parliament, 408. Salary of Legislators, 409. Privileges of Legislators, 409. Relation between the Legislature and the Executive, 409. The Electorate, 409. Theories of Suffrage, 413. Universal Suffrage, 413. The Weightage System, 415. Objections to the Weighted Vote System, 415. Plural Voting, 416. Minority Representation, 416. Proportional Representation, 416. Political Parties, 418. Conditions for the successful working of Parties, 421. The Judiciary, 422. Importance of the Judiciary, 422. Conditions required of an Efficient Judiciary, 423. Functions of the Judiciary, 424. Organisation of the Judiciary 426. Appointment, Tenure, and Removal of Judges, 430. Theory of the Separation of Powers, 431. Liberal Political Theory and Organisation of Government, 437. Liberalism in England, France and America, 437-438. Two aspects of Liberalism, 438. Theory of Rights, 439. Defence of Private Property. 439. Pressure Groups, 440. Pressure Groups in the U.S.A. 442. Pressure Groups in India, 443. Critical Assessment of Pressure Groups, 444.

Chapter	Pages
25. Democracy	446—470
Democracy under Revision, 446. Meaning of Democracy, 446. The Classical Case for Democracy, 449. The Case against Democracy, 451. Evaluation of the criticisms against Democracy, 454. Remedy and Conclusion, 457. Conditions necessary for the successful working of Democracy, 460. A note on Public Opinion, 462. Crisis in Liberal Democracy, 467. Merits of Liberal Democratic State, 467. Profit-Motive and Economic Inequality, 468. Marxian criticism of the Liberal Theory, 468. Alliance of Liberalism with Capitalism, 469. Need for Socialist Democracy, 470.
26. Theories of Democracy	471—491
The Elitist Theory of Democracy, 471. The Pluralist Theory of Democracy, 474. The Marxist Theory of Democracy, 475. The Class Perspective on Democracy, 477. Concept of Proletarian Dictatorship, 479. Liberal Dimension of Democracy, 482. The Empirical Theory of Democracy, 484. Revival of a Normative Theory of Democracy, 488.
27. Liberalism and Utilitarianism in Politics.	492—506
The Rise of Liberalism, 492. Laski's interpretation of Liberalism, 492. Philosophy of Middle Class, 493. The Liberal Tradition, 494. Breakdown of Feudalism, 494. Reformation and Liberalism 495. Liberal ideas of Bodin, Hobbes, Locke and Rousseau, 496. Statement and Criticism of Utilitarianism, 496. Estimate of Utilitarianism, 497. Utilitarian Thinkers, 499. Theory of Government, 500. Estimate of Bentham and John Start Mill, 501-506.
28. Idealism and Pragmatism in Politics	507—539
The Idealistic Tradition in Politics, 527. Statement of the Idealistic Theory of the State, 508. The German Idealists, 509. Criticism of Kant's Theory of the State, 512. Philosophical implications of Hegel's Political Theory, 513. Hegel's Theory of the State, 515. War and Internationalism, 516. Value of Hegel's work and his limitations, 517. T.H. Green as a sober Idealist, 519. Green's Theory of the State, 519. Criticism and Appreciation, 523. Bosanquets Theory—Criticism and appreciation, 526. Criticism of Idealism and Defence, 527. Appreciation of Idealism, 530. Pragmatism in Politics, 531. Pragmatic Criticism of the Idealist Theory, 531. Scientific Method and Pragmatism, 531. Pragmatism of William James 532. Pragmatism as unconscious ally of Idealism, 533. Liberal Temper of Pragmatism, 534. Impact of Pragmatism on Laski's Thought, 535. Rejection of the Ethical Conception of the State 535. Pluralism as an ally of Individualism, 536. The Source of Moral Sanction in the General Will, 536. The Doctrine of Plural Allegiance, 537. Laski's Ethical Ideals more radical, 539.
29. Nationalism, Imperialism and Internationalism	540—585
Definition of terms—Nation and Nationality, 540. Meaning of Nationality, 541. Factors of Nationality, 541. Self-determination of Nationality, 547. Is Nationalism a Blessing ? 548. Imperialism, 550. Meaning of Imperialism, 550. Causes of Imperialism, 551. Modern Imperialism, 555. The Open Door and Closed Door, 558. Military Alliances, 559. The Mandates, 559. Is Imperialism justified ? 560. Internationalism, 568. Internationalism in the Twentieth century

Chapter	Pages
the League of Nations, 568. The Organs of the League, 569 Appraisal of the League of Nations, 573. Nationalism, Imperialism and Internationalism Today, 574. Rise of Internationalism, 574. New Basis of International Law, 575. Greater awareness of International Solidarity, 575. National Sovereignty as a threat to Internationalism, 576. War as a Legal Right of the State, 576. Machinery for Pacific Settlement of Disputes, 576. Sovereignty and the Communist State, 579. World Peace not compatible with Capitalism, 584. International Commonwealth of Socialist Nations, 585.
30. The Evolution of Communistic Thought.	586—620
Collectivism, 507. Teaching of Marx and the Ideology of Communism, 588. Marx and Marxism, 588. A Critique of Marxism, 595. Communism after Marx, 597. Lenin and Leninism, 597. Lenin's contribution to Marxism, 599. Criticism and Appreciation, 604. Mao's addition to Marxist. Leninist Teachings, 609. Laski's criticism of Marxism, 610. Communist Practice—Revolution and Dictatorship, 616. The Communist Party as Revolutionary Vanguard, 617. Prole- tarian Dictatorship and Socialist Transformation, 617. In- ternational Strategy of Communism, 619. The Communist International and World Revolution, 619. United Front of Socialist Parties against Facism, 620.
31. Marxist Theories of Alienation, Freedom, State and Revolution	621—646
Marx's Theory of Alienation, 621. Marx's View of Man and Freedom, 627. Marx and Engels: Theory of State, 633. Marx and Engels: Theory of Revolution, 639.
32. Socialism after Marx	647—689
German Social Democracy, 647. Syndicalism, 648. Fabian Socialism, 651. Guild Socialism, 654. Socialism in India, 656. The Welfare State, 660. Ideologies of Socialism and Communism, 661. Laski as a Democratic Socialist, 662. The General Will, and the Common Good in a Class-ridden Society, 663. Impact of Economic Crisis of 1929-33. 665. Political Evolution in Economic Context, 669. Compromise between the Liberal and Marxian Approach to Politics, 671. Democratic Socialist Philosophy, 671. Danger of Fascism, 675. Fascism, a weakness of Capitalism, 679. Socialism and Violence, 680. Laski's Fabian Socialism, 681. Pluralistic Theory of Obedience, 681. Fabian Approach to Political Obligation, 684. A Class Perspective on Political Obligation, 686.
33. Fascism and Nazism	690—731
The meaning of Totalitarianism, 690. Features of the Totali- tarian State, 691. What Totalitarianism has done ?, 695. What of the Future ?, 695. Fascism in Italy, 696. The Ideology of Fascism, 699. Achievements of Fascism, 702. Nazism in Germany, 706. Emergence of Nazism, 706. The Ideology of Nazism, 710. Estimate of Nazism, 717. Fascism as an Anti-thesis of Laski's Political Philosophy, 718. Inco- herence of Fascist Theory, 718. Fascism as an effort to save Capitalism, 720. Alliance with Militarists, 721. Stability of the Fascist Regime, 721. Contrast with Dictatorship in Russia, 722. Use of Violence to undermine Reason, 724. The Alternative to Fascism, 725. Fascism as a Menace to Civilisation, 728. Soviet Opposition to Fascism, 729. How Resurgence of Fascism to be checked ? 729. Communist

Chapter	Pages
System as a lesser evil than Fascism, 730. Marxist critique of Fascism, 731.
34. The United Nations	732—746
Purposes of the U.N., 733. Principles, 733. The Organs of the United Nations, 734. The General Assembly, 734. The Security Council, 735. The Economic and Social Council, 739. The Trusteeship Council, 741. Specialized Agencies, 742. The International Court of Justice, 743. The Secretariat 744. Revision of the Charter, 745.
35. Political thought of Mahatma Gandhi	747—766
Sources of Gandhi's Thought, 747. Not a Politician, 748. Spiritualisation of Politics, 749. Philosophical Anarchism, 749. State Action, 750. The Welfare State, 750. Against Misery and Exploitation, 751. The Philosophy of Non-Violence 751. Non-Violence is not Passivity, 752. Non-Violence rooted in Ahimsa. 752. Weapon of the Strong, 753. Basic Principle is Truth, 753. Appeal to the Moral Sense in a Spirit of Love, 754. Other Requisites of Non-Violence, 755. Gandhiji's Non-Violence graded and religiously motivated, 757. Mahatma Gandhi,—a Tower of Strength, 757. Non-Violence, a total Philosophy of Life, 750. Non-Violence not dependent on numbers, 758. Non-Violence not Coercion, 758. Non-Violence and Passive Resistance, 758. Mahatma Gandhi's views on Economics, 759. The Machine Age, 761. Revival of Village Economy, 762. The Doctrine of Limits, 762. Was Mahatma Gandhi a Socialist?, 763. Was Mahatma Gandhi an Internationalist?, 764. Mahatma Gandhi and Marx, 764. The Religious Ideas of Mahatma Gandhi, 764. Equality of all Religions, 765. Regard for Gita, 765. Opposition to Proselytism, 765. Final Estimate 765.
36. Political Philosophy of Laski	767—782
Versatile genius of Laski, 767. Laski's Lectures on Political Theory, 768. Laski as leader of Labour Party, 768. Laski as a Progressive Journalist, 769. A Philosopher of the Age of Transition, 770. A Great Political Thinker of the Twentieth century, 770. Comparison with Rousseau, 770. Peaceful Political and Social change, 771. Pluralistic phase of Laski's Thought, 771. Sovereignty as a Doctrine of Crisis 771. Suspicion of the Monistic State, 772. Laski's uncompromising Individualism in Thought and Action, 772. Rejection of Hegel's conception of Freedom, 772. A Plea for Equality and Liberty. Laski's 'Grammar of Politics, 773. Laski as a critic of Marxism, 774. Laski's Libertarian Socialism, 774. Socialist Govt. and Institutional Changes, 775. The State no longer neutral in Class Conflict, 775. Historical evolution of the Liberal Ideology, 775. Laski as a critic of British Parliamentary System, 776. Laski as a critic of the American Political System, 776. Revolution and Counter-Revolution, 777. Contrast between Communism and Fascism, 778. The United Front of Liberals, Socialists and Communists, 778. Laski's dilemma and disappointment, 779. Laski as a critic of the Labour's Foreign Policy, 780. Laski as Rhetorical Writer, 781. Evaluation of Laski's Political Philosophy, 781.

Chapter	Pages
37. Comparative Study of Ideologies	783—802
Liberalism and the Capitalist World, 783. Marxism and the Socialist World, 785. Political Ideologies in the Third World, 787. The Concept of Underdevelopment, 791. Diffusion of Liberalism in the Third World, 794. Evolutionary Socialism in the Third World, 795. Marxism and the Socialist Path of Development, 797.
38. Behaviouralism	803—815
Behaviouralistic Approach in Political Science, 803. Important Features of Behavioural Approach, 804. Distributive Analysis of Harold Lasswell, 806. Pluralistic Analysis of Robert Dahl, 808. General Systems Theory of David Easton, 811. Almond's Structural-Functional Analysis, 816.
39. Post-Behaviouralism	816—826
Basic Assumptions of Behavioural Paradigm, 816. Earlier Critics of Behaviouralism, 818. Lasswell's Advocacy of Policy Science, 819. Easton on the Post-Behavioural Revolution, 820. Main Assumptions of Post-Behaviouralism, 821. Continuities in Political Analysis, 822. The Question of Paradigm Replacement, 825.
40. Politics of the Millennium	827—833
The Era of Democratization, 827. Globalization and Liberalization, 829. Democracy against Hegemony, 830. Fractured Societies and Fractured Histories, 832.
Bibliography	835—840
Index	841—844