An anthology prepared by top scholars in International Relations, The Global Agenda, 6e, offers students introductions to themes and topics often not included in introductory texts, providing analytical and incisive coverage of key concepts. The editors provide concise introductions, along with a clear and logical thematic organization that divides essays into four "baskets" or parts. The Global Agenda, 6e, bridges theory with evidence while underscoring issues driving modern international relations, represented by both classic and original, theoretical and prescriptive interpretations of world politics and written by premier scholars.

New to the 6th edition:

Completely new essays and heavily revised essays by: Ole Holsti, Christopher Joyner, Jack Levy, Bruce Russett, Donald Puchala, Harvey Starr, Ted Robert Gurr, David P. Forsythe, and Bjørn Møller reflect new topics and issues not previously covered in earlier editions.

Coverage of globalization in chapter 2

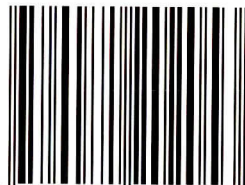

Changes in warfare in chapters 2-4 and 6-9

Coverage of human rights in chapter 18
