

ISLAMIC FINANCE

PARTNERSHIP FINANCING

SAAD ABDUL SATTAR AL-HARRAN

PELANDUK PUBLICATIONS

ISLAMIC FINANCE PARTNERSHIP FINANCING

SAAD ABDUL SATTAR AL-HARRAN

Pelanduk
Publications

PUSTAKA PERDANA

1 001 432

CONTENTS

	page
Dedication	v
From the Author	vii
Abstract	ix
Acknowledgements	xi
Contents	xiii
List of Tables	xxi
List of Figures	xxiii

1. INTRODUCTION

1.1.	Explanation of the Basic Principles of the Shariah Concerning the Elimination of Interest from the Economy	4
1.1.2.	Interest	5
1.2.	Interest in Modern Economic Theory	7
1.2.1.	Modern Fructification Theory	7
1.2.1.1.	Criticism	7
1.2.2.	Modified Abstinence Theory	8
1.2.2.1.	Criticism	8
1.2.3.	The Austrian Theory (The Age or Time-Preference Theory)	9
1.2.3.1	Criticism	10
1.2.4.	General Criticism of Interest Theories	10
1.2.5.	Modern Theories	11
1.2.5.1.	The Loanable Fund Theory	12
1.2.5.2.	Liquidity Preference Theory	12
1.2.5.3.	Stock and Flows Theory	14
1.2.6.	Criticism of Liquidity Preference Theory	14
1.2.7.	Criticism of Monetary Theories	14
1.3.	Prohibition of Riba (Interest or Usury) in Islam	15
1.4.	The Meaning of Riba	16

1.5.	Types of Riba	18
1.6.	Difference Between Interest and Trade	19
1.7.	Adverse Effects of Riba	20
1.8.	Rationale of the Prohibition of Interest	22
1.9.	Conclusions	24
2.	PROBLEMS OF DEBT FINANCING AND ISLAMIC VIEWS ON THE SUBJECT
	Introduction	27
2.1.	General Characteristics of Public Debts	29
2.1.1.	Economic Effects of Public Debt	30
2.1.2.	The Role of the Central Bank in Dealing with Public Debts	31
2.1.3.	The Government Role in Minimising the Budgetary Burden of Debt	32
2.1.4.	The Islamic Views on Public Debt	35
2.2.	Private Sector Debt	38
2.2.1.	Private Individuals	38
2.2.2.	Business Firms	40
2.2.3.	Consumer Debts and Islamic Views on the Subject	40
2.3.	External Debt	43
2.3.1.	Origins of the Problem	43
2.3.2.	Islamic Views on the Subject	45
2.4.	Debt (Bond) Financing from the Firm's Point of Views	47
2.4.1.	Role of Debt in the Financial Structure of a Firm	48
2.4.2.	Disadvantages of Debt (Bond) Financing	49
2.4.3.	Islamic Views on Debt Finance	50
2.5.	Conclusions	53
3.	PROFIT-LOSS-SHARING SYSTEM
	Introduction	55
3.1.	The Economic and Philosophical Principles of Islam for Banking	56
3.2.	Meaning of Mudarabah and its Definition	59
3.2.1.	Mudarabah as a Company	59
3.2.2.	Legitimacy of Mudarabah	61
3.2.3.	Prerequisites	62
3.3.	Types of Mudarabah	64

3.4.	Modern Applications of the Profit-Loss- Sharing System and the Ethical Basis for Contemporary Adoption	65
3.5.	Financial Intermediation	68
3.6.	The Effects of a Profit-Loss-Sharing System on Savings and Investment	68
3.7.	Conclusions	72

4. MUSHARAKAH FINANCING MODEL

	Introduction	73
4.1.	Definition of Musharakah and Its Historical Background	74
4.2.	Types of Musharakah	75
4.3.	Types of Modern Musharakah and its Conditions	77
	4.3.1. Management	78
	4.3.2. Distribution of Profit	79
	4.3.3. Liability of Loss	79
	4.3.4. Withdrawal of Members	80
	4.3.5. Limited Liability	81
4.4.	Equity Financing	82
	4.4.1. Channels of Equity in an Islamic Society	83
4.5.	Steps to be Taken to Transform to an Equity Financing System	89
4.6.	The Role of Equity Financing in Mobilizing Funds and Stabilization of the System	91
4.7.	Other Financial Instruments of Islamic Financing	95
	4.7.1. Ijara (Leasing) Definition and its Advantages	95
	4.7.1.1. The Modern Concept of Ijara	96
	4.7.1.2. Economic Role of Ijara	97
	4.7.2. Murabaha (Cost Plus Financing)	98
	4.7.3. Beneficence Loans (Qard al-Hasanah)	98
	4.7.4. Deferred Payment Sale (Bai Muajjal)	100
	4.7.5. Purchase with Deferred Delivery (Bai Salam)	100
	4.7.6. Tadamun or Takaful (Solidarity)	100
4.8.	Conclusions	101

5. FISCAL AND MONETARY POLICIES IN AN ISLAMIC ECONOMY

	Introduction	403
5.1.	How the Islamic Banks Operate	104
5.2.	Principal Models of Islamic Banking	107

5.3.	The Role of Stock Markets in the Islamic Economic System	109
5.3.1.	Equity-based Securities	110
5.3.2.	Debt-base Securities	111
5.3.3.	Preferred Stocks	111
5.3.4.	Secondary Markets	112
5.4.	Fiscal Policy in an Islamic Framework	115
5.4.1.	Objectives of Fiscal Policy in an Islamic Economy	117
5.4.2.	Zakat as a Cornerstone of Fiscal Policy in Islam	121
5.4.3.	Sources of Finance for Modern Islamic States	123
5.5.	Monetary Policy and Central Banking	125
5.6.	Conclusions	131
6.	ISLAMIC BANKING: MANAGING THE CHALLENGES
	Introduction	135
6.1.	Extra Management Burdens	136
6.2.	Long Term Financing and Follow up of Projects	140
6.3.	Profitable Placement of Surplus Liquid Funds	142
6.4.	Moral Hazard and the Risk of Fraud	144
6.5.	Central Banking Regulation	145
6.6.	Planning Problems	148
6.7.	Equity Financing	150
6.8.	Problem of Delay in Payment and Insolvency	155
6.9.	Islamic Banks in the West	156
6.10.	Conclusions	157
7.	THE CONTRIBUTION OF AGRICULTURE TO THE SUDANESE NATIONAL ECONOMY
	Introduction	159
7.1.	The Role of the Agricultural Sector	160
7.2.	Types of Agriculture in Sudan	165
7.2.1.	The Mechanized Sector	166
7.2.2.	The Irrigated Sector	166
7.2.3.	The Traditional Sector	169
7.3.	Main Crops	172
7.3.1.	Cotton	172
7.3.2.	Sugar	173
7.3.3.	Dura	174
7.3.4.	Groundnuts	175

7.3.5.	Duhkun	175
7.3.6.	Sesame	176
7.3.7.	Wheat	176
7.3.8.	Gum Arabic	177
7.4.	Economic Implications of the Agricultural Failure	177
7.5.	Conclusions	179

8. THE SUDANESE FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS

	Introduction	181
8.1.	The Banking System in Sudan	181
8.2.	Credit Policy and Priority Sectors for Finance	185
8.3.	Commercial Banks	187
8.4.	Special Purpose Banks	188
8.5.	Saving Institutions	190
	8.5.1. The Sudanese Savings Bank (SSB)	190
	8.5.2. The Post Office Savings Bank (POSB) and Premium Savings Bonds (PSB) Project	191
8.6.	Other Local Financial Institutions	192
8.7.	Evaluation of Current Economic Activities of Islamic Banks in Medium and Long-term Financing	194
8.8.	Informal Credit Financing	197
8.9.	Conclusions	198

9. THE AGRICULTURAL BANK OF SUDAN

	Introduction	201
9.1.	The Bank's Objectives	202
	9.1.1. The Bank's Activities	202
	9.1.2. Sources of Capital	203
	9.1.3. Investment Activities	205
	9.1.4. Loans Procedures	205
9.2.	The Co-operative Societies	207
9.3.	Farm Structure and Organization	207
9.4.	Methodology for the Case Study	208
	9.4.1. Purpose of Study	208
	9.4.2. Method of Study	209
	9.4.3. Scope of Study	209
9.5.	Characteristics of the Sampled Areas	210
	9.5.1. Land	210

9.5.2.	Labour	211
9.5.3.	Farming Activities	212
9.5.4.	Capital Requirement for Each Main Crop	214
9.5.5.	Other General Characteristics	215
	9.5.5.1. Storage and Marketing	216
	9.5.5.2. Transportation	216
	9.5.5.3. Securities	217
9.6.	Type of Activity	217
9.6.1.	Family Structure	219
9.6.2.	Farming Size and Cultivation Patterns	221
9.6.3.	Crop Production and its Importance to the Farmers	224
9.6.4.	Farmer Cash Crops	229
9.7.	Farmer Income	231
	9.7.1. Lender Characteristics of the Formal and Informal Sectors	238
	9.7.2. Disadvantages of Informal Lending in Agriculture	241
9.8.	Agricultural Credit	243
9.9.	The Relation of the Farmer with Financial Institutions	244
	9.9.1. Problems Facing the Farmers	246
9.10.	Type of Bank's Credit and Facilities	248
	9.10.1. Comments by Farmers	253
9.11.	Conclusions	258

10. THE SUDANESE ISLAMIC BANK

	Introduction	263
10.1.	Concept of Rural Development	264
10.2.	Objectives of Rural Development	266
	10.2.1. Short and Medium-term Objectives	266
10.3.	The Bank Establishment	269
10.4.	Sudanese Islamic Bank: Concept of Rural Development	270
	10.4.1. Bank's Strategy in Rural Development	272
10.5.	Bank's Philosophy in Financial Transactions	272
10.6.	Musharakah Models	274
	10.6.1. Agricultural Financing Model	274
	10.6.2. Canal Irrigation	276
	10.6.3. Pump Irrigation	276
	10.6.4. Rainfed Scheme	276
	10.6.5. The Family Poultry Production Project	276

10.7.	Balance Sheet, Development and Profit and Loss Accounts	280
10.7.1.	Fixed Assets	280
10.7.2.	Assets and Liabilities	280
10.7.3.	Growth of Deposits	280
10.7.4.	Profit and Loss (Revenue)	284
10.7.5.	Profit Distribution	285
10.7.6.	Zakat	285
10.8.	Bank's Investment	286
10.9.	Bank's Operations	287
10.9.1.	Musharakah in Trade	289
10.9.2.	Musharakah in Industrial Investment	291
10.10.	Conclusions	292

11. THE EXPERIENCE OF THE SUDANESE ISLAMIC BANK IN MUSHARAKAH FINANCING

	Introduction	295
11.1.	The Scope of the Study	295
11.2.	Type of Farm Activity	296
11.2.1.	Family Structure	298
11.2.2.	Farm Size and Cultivation Patterns	299
11.2.3.	Crop Production and its Importance to the Farmers	302
11.3.	Major Cash Crops	307
11.4.	Farmer Income	308
11.5.	Agricultural Credit	323
11.6.	The Relation of the Farmer with Financial Institutions	325
11.7.	Problems Facing the Farmers	329
11.8.	Type of Bank's Credit and Facilities	335
11.9.	The Advantages of Sudanese Islamic Bank Credit	342
11.10.	Comments by Farmers	346
11.11.	Conclusions	350

12. CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

12.1.	Summary	355
12.2.	A Comparison of Fieldwork Surveys	363
12.3.	The Current Economic Situation	365
12.4.	The Challenge Facing the Banks in the Sudan	367
12.5.	Planning Problems	370
12.6.	Recommendations Concerning the Sudanese Islamic Bank	373

12.7.	Advantages of Musharakah Financing	377
12.8.	The Bank's Problems	378
12.9.	Further Research	379

APPENDIX I
BIBLIOGRAPHY	381
INDEX	387
	401