

THE TRAGEDY THAT DIDN'T HAPPEN

Malaysia's crisis management and capital controls

Marie-Aimée Tourres

Contents

Abbreviations and Acronyms	vii
List of Charts	ix
List of Tables	xi
Acknowledgements	xiii
INTRODUCTION	1
CHAPTER ONE: MALAYSIA IN THE ASIAN FINANCIAL CRISIS	7
1. Preamble	7
2. Asia's turmoil: From optimism to pessimism	10
• The Asian growth context	10
High savings rate, foreign capital flows and domestic credit	11
The driving forces: Investments and exports	14
• The regional context of the crisis	15
3. Malaysia, no apparent warning signs	20
• Strong fundamentals	20
• Economic success applauded	26
4. Malaysia and the 'Tom Yam' effect	27
• Emerging weaknesses	27
• Falling into the cauldron	30
5. From shock to anger	32
• A shared surprise	32
• But one voice was louder	35
Mahathir vs Soros	36
Malaysia already different	39
CHAPTER TWO: THE POWER TO SAY NO	41
1. A spectrum of diverse explanations	41
• Pioneer explanations of economic crises	42
First generation models	42
Second generation models	43
Third generation models	44
• The failure of economic forecasting	44
• Explanations specific to 1997'	47
Unsound fundamentals and government policies	47
Weak domestic financial system	49
International environment and inadequate global financial system	51

CONTENTS

Hedge funds	53
Contagion	54
2. Is there a way out?	56
• The regional road: An unsuccessful option	57
An aborted idea: The Asian Monetary Fund	58
An American monopoly	61
• The IMF: One size does not fit all	62
One medicine prescribed for three illnesses	63
The IMF dark tunnel	66
3. Think globally, plan regionally, act nationally	71
• No single model	71
• 1997: The inside story	74
The first measures	74
1998 Budget	75
5 December measures	79
An apparent indifference	82
The Latin American journey	83
A mental state of emergency	85
CHAPTER THREE: GROPING IN THE DARK	87
1. A new chapter unfolds	87
• A cornerstone called the NEAC	88
Highly committed team	88
Much ado behind closed doors	90
• NEAC and the Cabinet	91
2. Divided we fall	92
• Investor behaviour, a key problem	93
Information, rumours and what else?	94
• Be united under the NEAC	96
Confidence-building measures	97
Towards a recovery plan	100
“Love Malaysia, Buy Malaysian Products”	102
3. Let’s go on with the ‘virtual IMF’ policy	104
• Trial period	104
• International acclamation under the IMF shadow	109
Please don’t talk about it	114
4. The ‘third’ side of the coin	119
• A shared concern	119
Unneighbourly relations	123
• CLOB, a thorn in Malaysia’s side	124
CHAPTER FOUR: THE SINATRA PRINCIPLE	127
1. Slipping and sliding	127
• Malaysia and the Washington institutions	129

CONTENTS

• What went wrong?	132
2. Saving private companies	138
• The importance of context	139
• When economics meets politics	140
3. The road to reparation	143
• The National Economic Recovery Plan	144
• Strengthening the corporate sector	146
4. Home-grown special vehicles	148
• Danaharta	150
“You have two weeks”	150
How does it work?	154
• Danamodal	157
A sense of urgency	157
How does it work?	160
Funding for recapitalisation	160
• Corporate Debt Restructuring Committee	162
5. The final solution on its way	164
• Another idea	165
Lessons from others	165
Nothing new in fact	166
• China, the final inspiration	168
A relevant experience	170
Last check	172
• The devil’s advocate	173
CHAPTER FIVE: MALAYSIA’S ‘FOLLY’	177
1. August, the decisive month	177
• Malaysia’s last card	177
• Behind-the-scenes suspense	180
2. 1st and 2nd September 1998, key dates	184
• The measure that brought down wrath	185
The 12-month rule	188
Exit levy introduced	189
• Pegging of the Ringgit	191
3.8, the magic number	193
• That’s not all	195
Complementary measures	195
CLOB’s time has come	196
3. The market, the market	199
• Insulation not isolation	200
• A strict follow-up	203
4. Fire on capital controls	205
• Dire reactions	205
• A political ploy	209

CONTENTS

5. Helping hands	215
• Salomon Smith Barney	216
• Japanese friend	218
Miyazawa initiative	219
• Other voices	223
CHAPTER SIX: AGAINST ALL ODDS	229
1. Re-arranging the house	229
• Pro-growth strategy and stimulus package	230
• On the comeback trail	234
1st September 1999	238
Malaysia boleh	240
• Faster restructuring process	241
An example now emulated	241
Complementary road-map	244
Capital Market Masterplan	245
Financial Sector Masterplan	246
2. Assessment debate	247
• Right timing or too late?	247
Malaysia vs South Korea, Thailand and Indonesia	249
• Pegging, the remaining issue	254
Pegging stabilises a yoyo-ringgit	254
Exit solution	257
3. The merits of the Malaysian selective capital controls	259
• Major economic side-effects avoided	260
• Foreign direct investments	261
Two Surveys	263
• Social and political stability assured	267
4. Malaysian story through rating agencies	269
• Venerable institutions with limits	269
• The highest cost of capital controls	272
Growing re-acceptance	273
• Bond issues, a clear vindication	276
5. The rule admitted one exception	280
• New wave of comments	281
• Good pre-conditions are not enough	283
CONCLUSION	285
Annexes	289
Chronology	303
The Interviewees	315
References	325
Index	335