

THE FREE MARKET 2
July 29, 2010
chedet.co.cc

1. When I wrote about the free market, I was not thinking of wanting to make money from the United States. It is good if we can but without the US market Malaysian palm oil is doing extremely well.

2. I just wanted to show the hypocrisy of America. We do not go around the world preaching free market, so if we are not so free as alleged, we are not being hypocritical. I had always been sceptical of ideas coming from the rich. They are all self-serving.

3. They preach and fiercely demand that all Governments stop regulating their trade. Yet they are the ones most guilty of protecting their trade.

4. In fact the US has gone beyond that. Trade is to them a political instrument for the promotion of their agenda for the world. By applying sanctions in trade they will try to force countries to submit to their policies. If a country does not support their sanction they have means of squeezing companies or banks from that country.

5. Sanctions is denial of free trade in totality and in Iraq before the 2003 invasion it caused the deaths of 500,000 children. That is how far the abuse of free trade is indulged in by the US. But they talk all the time that trade must be free. If this is not hypocrisy, then what is hypocrisy?

6. Incidentally they talk much about democracy i.e. the freedom to choose one's own Government. But they have no hesitation about warring and killing hundreds of thousands of Iraqis in order to force them to accept democracy. Is this the free choice as advocated by democracy?

7. Is there democracy in the United Nations where one country can negate the will of 190 other member countries? Yet this same country talks so much about democracy and the good that democracy will bring. Practise first, then talk.

8. In my time I had often enough said that Malaysia was not and did not aspire to be a liberal democracy. And when we did things which did not seem to be in keeping with liberal democracy it is because we did not promise to be a liberal democracy.

EDUCATION

9. Some have asked me to comment on our education policy. While we have concentrated on making education available to almost everyone, the quality of education is obviously in need of improving.

10. It is not having examination which is wrong. It is the kind of examination we conduct which is wrong. We need to study the kind of examination and improve it rather than simply abolishing examinations.

The US has used trade sanctions or have limited access to countries that threatened their industrial base, e.g. Japan was forced to shift some manufacturing to US , the Japanese expansion was contained by the US using trade restrictions.

In California bidders to a fast train project are required to submit proof that they were not involved in transportation of Jews to the camps during World War II.

Trade access go Korea , Singapore and Taiwan resulted in the economic development of these countries this of course was a part of the American game plan to contain China .Similar access to say Pakistan is denied although US is willing to gave aid (most of which is filtered away buy US and local venal elements anyway)

Dear Tun,
How are you sir?...Hope you are in good health.

Just want to clarify this...About the PKFZ scandal which now former transport minister being charged in Session court, could you explain how this got out of control during your tenure as PM and why no one notice this even you sir?

Thanks.

Dear Tun,

I believe sanction on military hardware and equipment is appropriate in order to curb countries having the tendency of creating wars for their own political agenda. The US is no exception. Other countries can also impose sanction on the US on military matters. For example, other countries could avoid having military pact with the US or by not providing military support such as airport bases and other weapon installations and also soldiers to wedge and facilitate wars against other countries.

With regard to economic sanction, it is totally abuse of human rights when a country tries to impose its policies or ideologies on other countries by applying such action. It is completely inhumane when it affects the well-being of the citizens of other countries which are affected by economic sanction. IT IS UNCIVILISED OF THE FIRST ORDER. Make no mistake about it.

We can simply draw into conclusion the US adminstration is the greatest bully on earth. Shame on them claiming themselves to be champion of liberal democracy. Bullshitt!!!!

With regard to education, I suggest the govt. should look into other countries education systems which can be incorporated into our education system. Find the best system in other countries and and then tailor it according to our national education needs.

The govt. should have a target to make a classroom with students not more than 25 by year 2020 or earlier in every school all over the country to be ideal. Such limited students in a class of 25 will make the teachers more focus to attend to each student's needs. Use simple logic if we are really serious to upgrade the quality of education.

Having examination is of course important. To have formal examination for schoolchildren at tender age is not good. It negatively affects the children emotion and psychology. I think the govt. should do away Std. Six examinations and just replace it with monthly test set by Ministry of Education and standardise the test to all schools. The Ministry should use the ICT widely to achieve this purpose to be practical and efficient.

Ummmm.... everyone says that Tun's family is a billionaire family. Wonder how true it is, given that the Malays, the very race you are championing, is still said to be poor. Me thinks a real champion should not have more than those whom he is fighting for... or at least, not much more, otherwise that would look hypocritical to me.

Spot on amin - one of the few sane voices here. In fact God has been tremendously kind to Malaysia - endowed her with oil, gas, rubber, palm oil, bauxite, tin, timber, etc. etc. And protected her from natural disasters such as volcanoes, typhoons and earthquakes.

And what did Malaysia do with such humongous advantages?

With Ling Liong Sik's getting charged for cheating your administration in 2002's Cabinet is some proof that there is freedom for justice in this country. We should be very proud considering we are a small, still struggling democracy.

Question is, how did he get past all the checks and balances in the government? Anyway, take care.

Dear Tun,

1. I am referring to a part of paragraph 3: "I had always been skeptical of ideas coming from the rich. They are all self-serving."

2. The National Economic Advisory Council (NEAC) consists of many big shots who have been getting high incomes. In addition to that, Performance Management & Delivery Unit (PEMANDU) as well as the subsidy labs comprise the profit seeking industry players and well paid senior civil servants. None of the three has included jobless graduate who can also be referred AS the brightest poor.

3. As you mentioned, the ideas coming from them are suspiciously self-serving. For instance, the projection of becoming a high income nation neglects the historical and statistical fact that a recession or an economic crisis is bound to occur in every ten years. The recent crisis happened from 2007-2009. This means that the next is likely to occur before 2020. If there is a recession before 2020, our goal to achieve a high income status will be gone. I wonder how those economic experts could ever exclude a recession in their projection.

untuk membentuk sesuatu masyarakat yang bertamadun dalam erti kata sebenar adalah bermula dari pendidikan melalui sistem pendidikan. pendidikan adalah jauh lebih baik dari pelajaran kerana pendidikan merangkumi pelajaran.

sistem pendidikan yang mengarahkan kepada hafalan dan politik sekolah termasuk guru-guru di anugerahkan atas dasar pandai ambil hati guru besar, guru-guru yang pandai berpolitik sekolah dianugerahkan kenaikan pangkat, sekolah sekolah yang berusaha mencari jalan mengajar murid-murid cara skor peperiksaan supaya sekolah dapat nama yang sekolah dan guru-guru akan dapat kemudahan yang pelbagai seperti anugerah kesenangan dapat bantuan dan sebagainya.....akan menjurus mendapat quantiti pelajar cemerlang tetapi tiada qualiti....mind set yang lemah dan sebagainya.

malang sekali buat guru-guru yang benar benar guru iaitu guru yang benar benar mendidik kebanyakannya terpinggir dan di sekat oleh guru besar dari keikhlasan guru-guru yang ikhlas ini dan sayang sekali bilangan guru-guru sebegini amat kurang sekali bukan kerana tiada tenaga kerja tetapi kerana sistem pemilihan guru itu sendiri pun amat lemah maka dapatlah kita guru-guru yang lemah tetapi kelayakan kelulusan guru-guru yang dipilih oleh sistem yang ditetapkan amat cemerlang. saya percaya kebanyakan menteri-menteri pun tak mau hantar anak-anak mereka ke sekolah dalam negara yang menggunakan sistem yang betul-betul betul-betul sama seperti sekolah kebanyakkan dalam negara tanpa pertolongan graf special kerana mengkategorikan sebagai sekolah kebangsaan anak-anak menteri yang sudah tentu tidak sama dengan sekolah biasa termasuk gurunya sekali.....tak begitu? saya henti di sini sebab siapalah saya hingga ada yang akan ambil berat apa yang saya taipkan ini.....sedangkan apa yang Dr. Mahathir katakan atau taipkan pun susah orang atasan mau timbangkan. saya ada hantar permasalahan ini di sertakan dengan cadangan-cadangan/cara-cara/langkah-langkah kepada PM ketika itu pak lelah PM kita kerana dia cakap kerja bersama-sama dengan dia dan menggalakkan rakyat beri info dan buah fikiran tetapi hampeh betul.

saya sedar seperti kata-kata KJ dalam suatu temubual dalam tv suatu ketika dahulu; sesiapa yang tidak sertai sesebuah parti atau NGO sememangnya tidak layak menyuarakan pendapat (sb bg KJ mereka hanya mahu beri pendapat tapi tak mau buat kerja.) apa salahnya orang itu bg pendapat sb kita jgn terkejut kekadang pendapat dari seorang kanak-kanak sekali pun kekadang tak terfikir oleh orang dewasa itu sekali.

Salam hormat Tun.

The late Ayatollah Khomeini had declared and echoed repeatedly by many Iranian leaders that USA is the GREATEST SATAN of the world. How true and what Tun has written on these topics are indeed proven facts beyond reasonable doubt.

Yet and still millions remain staunch and loyal supporters of this Orang Puteh PENIPU.

We, Malays must not forget history of Tanah Melayu where the Orang Puteh conquered and colonized us for hundreds of years through fraudulent means. Deceiving our Sultans to submit to them via deceitful treaties. Our present leaders must approach things vigilantly when dealing with the new generations of Orang Puteh. Their forefathers had cheated us. What's there to stop them from deceiving us again in the future. Their crook genes are still circulating in their veins. So, don't trust them. They are liars before and liars forever. Recent good example; Bush and Blair on the weapons of mass destruction in Iraq. How they both talked in tandem to defamed the world on Iraq.

However, I dread to see the trends shown by our new elite Malay girls whom seems so proud hanging around and marrying them. What the hack.

Dear Tun,

I hope the government listen to Tun on education, dont abolish examinations but improve on subject matter of the examination. When they revert the teaching of Maths and Science from English to Malay, they make us backward. I should say if the government abolish PMR, it must be a weak and mediocre government. Every student has a report card to manifest his grade in first, second and third term examination for every year of his study in school. Now they are discussing big public examination to be abolished. They are going to perform worse than under pak Lah. Under Pak Lah, it was all corridors and double patrol and toll charges 2 months before election. Now the present government shocks and awes the rakyat by abolishing examinations. Myhidin Yassin really outdoes Pak Lah in terms of big pronouncement.

Dear Tun,

Please dont be angry with the rich nations. God creates individuals, peoples and countries unequal. Let's emulate them, learn from them and be their friends. Let's not put up bamboo curtain, iron curtain or religious curtain and isolate ourselves like Burma and China before they open up. It is no good for us if we continue to criticise and talk bad about them. One day we might just end up like Iraq and we can be proud of ourselves because we are brave and we stand by our priciple even though thousands of people die and our country is reduced to ashes like Iraq. Let's not antagonise and oppose the rich and powerful countries like Lim Kit Siang and Karpal Singh oppose the government all the time and they have been treated like Iraq, meaning detained and locked up under ISA for years, so to speak.

A minister has big salary, free car, free servant, free body guard, free telephon and hugh pension. They are the Americans. Whereas ordinary folks like us have to sweat and toil to earn a meagre income to make ends meet. We are Malaysians and Karpal Singh.

Hope we can tone down a little bit and not behave like Sadam Hussein or Karpal Singh. We are definitely courting trouble.

We should not go and look up all American and British enemies like Cuba, Venezuela, Iran, Hamas, Zimbabwe and endear ourselves to them so that The American and British become more suspicious of us and they are so provoked that they might literally use nuklear weapons to annihilate us and we can only say they are unfair, cruel, hypocrite or celaka. The same thing with Tengku Razaleigh and Anwar Ibrahim, when they failed to unseat Tun to be PM, they went to seek out PAS and DAP and form Pakatan Rakyat or collusion against the BN.

Assalamualaikum Tun Dr M,

In my opinion with regard to our education, the root of the problem is our teachers. First of all, are they dedicated to teach. How many of them are dedicated to educate the pupils. Is it their choosing profession that they want to teach or is it that they want a monthly paycheck with good retirement benefits.

I believe in examination. It is a process to determine whether the teachers has perform their duties to the standard required.

7. Dr Chua should deal with PKFZ first — The Malaysian Insider

1. MCA in shock over Dr Ling's PKFZ charge By Clara Chooi July 29, 2010 KUALA LUMPUR, July 29 – Today's prosecution of Tun Dr Ling Liong Sik over his role in the Port Klang Free Zone (PKFZ) scandal, has sent shockwaves through the MCA, leaving party leaders stuttering in response.

2. MCA's usually calm and collected president Datuk Seri Dr Chua Soi Lek himself appeared shaken by the news and admitted that it was unexpected.

3. "MCA leaders are shocked by this," he told reporters who surrounded him for a response after he opened the Perak MCA Youth convention at the state liaison body's headquarters in Ipoh.

4. He added, however, that he was confident that Dr Ling, 66, who had served as the party's president from 1986 to 2003, would be given a fair trial.

5. When contacted later in the evening, MCA secretary-general and Transport Minister Datuk Seri Kong Cho Ha fell silent for several moments when informed of the news.

6. When asked if he was surprised, Kong said: "Of course I am. Why do you only call me when there is bad news?"

7. He added that he was "concerned" about Dr Ling's prosecution, especially since the latter was a prominent figure in the MCA.

8. Dr Ling was slapped with charges under Section 418 and alternatively, under Section 417 of the Penal Code, for an offence concerning land valuation.

9. Section 418 concerns "cheating with knowledge that wrongful loss may be thereby caused to a person whose interest the offender is bound to protect" and Section 417 concerns the punishment for cheating.

10. If convicted under Section 418, Dr Ling faces a maximum jail term of seven years, or a fine, or both, and if convicted under Section 417, he faces a lesser sentence of five years jail, or fine or both.

11. He claimed trial to the charges and the case has been fixed for mention on September 3.

12. Dr Ling, believed to be the first Tun in the country to face such prosecution, is the most influential personality to date to be brought to book over the controversial PKFZ scandal.
13. When contacted, many MCA leaders chose to keep mum over the issue, pleading for more time to study the charges before issuing any comment.
14. MCA vice-president Datuk Donald Lim told The Malaysian Insider that the matter should only be addressed by the president.
15. "I would rather not comment. I just heard about it too," he said.
16. A fellow vice-president Gan Ping Sieu also declined comment but chose instead to seek information from The Malaysian Insider over the details of the charges against Dr Ling.
17. "What did they involve? What were the specific charges," he asked, before saying that he would need more time before speaking on it.
18. Another vice-president Datuk Chor Chee Heung told The Malaysian Insider that careless comments on such a shocking piece of news should not be made.
19. "I barely just heard about it myself. I do not know the details, so it would be unfair to make any comment for now. It is a big issue," he pointed out.
20. Other MCA leaders could not be reached via the telephone.
21. On micro-blogging site Twitter, MCA Youth chief Datuk Wee Ka Siong, who is usually active, was uncharacteristically quiet. His last post was at about 4pm, on an unrelated matter.
23. MCA presidential council member Chua Tee Yong tweeted that the PKFZ case needed transparency if the government wanted to revive the people's trust in them.
24. "Give a chance 2 clear d air instd of guessg and hypthosg," he said in his tweet.
25. The PKFZ project, Malaysia's biggest port investment, was initially kickstarted in the early 2000 with a budget of RM1.8 billion.
26. The amount ballooned, however, allegedly due to mismanagement and corruption, and is estimated to likely cost a whopping RM12.5 billion now, including interest charges.

Salam Tun,

Nothing is free in this world. Everything comes with a price or condition. Except of course if one is a politician of the ruling party in Malaysia or Zimbabwe. Then one is free to do whatever they like and make as much money as one can.

By hakimjbAuthor Profile Page on July 29, 2010 7:12 PM

Many thanks for your response on the 'abolishing exam' debate Tun.

Regarding your posts, I believe your intention is clear - to expose the hypocrisy of an economic giant supposedly championing free trade and democracy, but has itself forgotten to practise what it preaches (rather fervently).

However, I hope people might also be interested to find out why those sanctions and veto calls in the UN are made by the US in the first place. Then only can we have a good discussion about those issues.

And by the way, if we hold that liberal democracy is not our way, and that we have our very own 'better' system; maybe it's time to show how it's done, and how good it really is. If our system is really that good, I don't see why other countries wouldn't aspire to follow us.

But if we're apt to retreat into the comfort zone of blaming 'external factors' for our failures and crises, we will never prosper beyond what those 'external factors' permit.

By andrewtayAuthor Profile Page on July 29, 2010 5:43 PM

But we cannot say that Democracy is futile because we are kononnya a democratic country too. Our democratic hierarchy is alleged to have enriched those at the helm of the country. We know it is defective but still we embrace it. The theory behind democracy, by simply stating that it gives power to the people to decide their own destiny, resonates with every human being, us and the Iraqis. That mantra itself is so powerful that we are all blinded by the defective qualities of democracy, shutting an eye on it.

Education

Our education is crap. We have gone backwards on our education just to please certain sectors of the majority population in the country.

Where is Bahasa Malaysia going to take us? Its speakers are less than 40 million people in this world. Most of them are from third world countries such as Malaysia and Brunei. Indonesia dont even speak Bahasa Malaysia although Bahasa Indonesia is somewhat similar to BM.

Why has the government fail to take into account the wishes of ordinary Malaysians where polls have indicated that the majority of Malaysians do not agree with the removal of English as medium to teach science and maths (except for Utusan Melayu's poll for obvious reason). Shouldn't we have a say in our future at least instead of letting it to be decided by incompetent people who has no credibility to run a country? We gave them a mandate to improve our lives but not to screw us from behind.

Why do we constantly take this matter lightly? why is it not in our interest to punish a government who does not listen to our wishes instead of handing them another term to run this country?

Why is Bahasa so important? im still baffled! Besides being a tool to showcase Malay supremacy, why do we need it? You want to showcase supremacy, do it in style, with money and awesome wives. Little kids are not going to be impressed with a race by the language it speaks. Dont deprive them little kids.

This country does not need to end up like France. We are not arrogant slimes

Tun,

You are a strong advocate of MALAYSIA BOLEH and LOOK EAST and BUY BRITISH LAST all for the sake of putting Malaysians into a self-reliance mode and be free from foreign dependance.

One of your top brilliant policies was to ask the govt to use Open Source rather than foreign expensive software. But today, the govt has reverted back to using more of foreign software not that they do not like what you preached. But it is more comfortable to get entertainment from these foreign software companies.

The US buy their way into all countries this way. They entertain by many ways including but not limited to free trips, gifts, and preliminary investments from their side. Then when our well entertained officers signed on the dotted line, they signed away millions in the long run.

But the greatest insult is not that we feel at a lost. Rather we feel proud to have signed off with the likes of greats from Stanford and Harvard that clearly cannot even solve their own financial crisis.

Dear Tun Dr M,

Yes, you are quite true about the Western hypocrisy. Not only on Free Trade but also on other issues like the Freedom of Speech, Freedom of Choice, Liberation, Basic human rights (which they only seem apply in their country and not in Iraq and Afghanistan, where their soldiers killed thousands of innocent lives!), The "wonderful" treatment of prisoners in Guantanamo Bay etc etc.

The obvious problem with those countries is that, they find it difficult to market their products internationally as it is too competitive. Further more, they do not want to reduce the prices of the goods and services. Thus they resort to dirty tactics like this. When I checked for the richest countries in world I was surprised to note that China and India are no 2 and no 4 respectively. The number of rich nations amongst the west has dropped significantly.

This means, they are desperate and focused to regain their economic and financial status by every which way they can. Yet, they try to portray a different picture to us thinking that we are as naive as before.

As for the examinations in schools, I totally agree with you that examinations in schools should not be abolished. If abolished then the students have no realistic targets to meet and would not any realistic standards to attain. Knowing Malaysian students well, it would be disaster (especially the male students who are very much lagging behind the female students).

As you have suggested, the standard of examinations should be reviewed and also the standard of teaching and learning should be enhanced to meet the standards of developed nations.

It is very much disappointing that most of our university graduates lack command in English and are obviously weak in public relation and general knowledge.

YABhg Tun & all of chedet's fellow

The foremost; I totally agree about the hypocrisy of America. Not even me agree on it but Mr. Glenn, Greenwald too who wrote GREAT AMERICAN HYPOCRITES - ISBN 1059305. This is the "Pandora Box" of it.

Market whether free, open, global, or extreme the American always want to be the single player. They create rules and regulations which favour them and their counterparts. But not the developing countries.

To become single player American being hypocrites in the name of free market and democracy in market.

American Implement bias protectionism where any rivals particularly from the developing countries could not compete it even in play-fair.

But when America coming to the land of developing countries they preached that deregulation is stray away from modern economic doctrine because there is no play-fair in it.

But the American of course being otherwise when they in their homeland. Is America stray from "gesta non verba?"

Salam Sejahtera Yang Berbahagia Tun Sekeluarga,

Dasar/Sistem Pendidikan negara kita, bagi saya, memang terlalu amat sangat memerlukan perubahan besar lagi drastik. Kempen Satu Sekolah Untuk Semua (SSS) menyeru kerajaan supaya melihat semula dasar ini dan melakukan suatu rombakan yang bermakna.

Our Early Education System

Salam.
