Don't be blinded by theories of Western analysts, journalists

Dr Tan Hiew Kang

THERE is talk in financial circles and the Western media that when Prime Minister Datuk Seri Dr Mahathir Mohamad hit out at the speculators in the forex markets for manipulating the currencies of Asean countries, he had caused the Malaysian ringgit to fall even more against the US dollar.

Except for Dr Mahathir, the heads of other Asean countries, whose currencies had fallen even more than the ringgit, had all been silent against the currency speculators of the Western countries. Their silence had not spared them from the ravages of these currency manipulators.

If Dr Mahathir had not spoken out against these Western forex speculators, would the ringgit be spared from the attacks?

Let us not be blinded by the theories propounded by Western analysts and journalists. There is a "black hand" behind all this.
