

02/12/1997

Ode to our beloved PM

Carol Lei

I HAVE written this ode in the wake of the call by US Congressmen for our Prime Minister to resign. Naturally, as a Malaysian, I am dissatisfied with their patronising attitude and I feel they have no right to lord it over us. This is my way of expressing my anger at them.

You were once branded "recalcitrant";
But you did not falter nor did you flinch;
You showed composure while we were indignant;
Taking it in your stride you showed it was all a cinch.
As citizens we marvelled at your tenacity and resilience;
If something was wrong, you did not allow us to suffer in silence;
You spoke out against the big, the mighty and the strong;
Putting them in their places and chastising their wrongs.
How dare they ask you, our beloved Prime Minister, to resign?
Did they think we existed purely by their own design?
How foolish of them, with their condescending and patronising attitude;
To think they could browbeat, bully us into servitude.
They never believed we would stand up and fight;
They thought we were weaklings with their imagined might;
And now that they have finally seen the light;
Let us hope they leave us to do what is right.
We do not meddle in their affairs or tell them what to do;
We know when to keep quiet and when to say a thing or two;
We respect their sovereignty and let them play their own game;
Would it be too much to ask them to do the same?
Malaysians, unite and show them what is solidarity;
Let them see for themselves how strong we are in the face of adversity;
No stones, no abuses, no sanctions, no threats will break us at all;
As long we stand alongside our beloved Prime Minister, proud and tall.