Success due to `four jewels`

MCA president Datuk Seri Dr Ling Liong Sik attributed Malaysia's economic and political success to the "four jewels" - Prime Minister Datuk Seri Dr Mahathir Mohamad, an educated population, political and social stability and the Malaysian hunger for success. "Dr Mahathir is the master strategies of the country's economic plans that enabled Malaysia to grow to what it is today," he said at the MCA press nite at Wisma MCA last night. "Malaysia is a model of a multi-racial country with its economic success," he said. Dr Ling said Malaysia also has an educated population who are highly intelligent and easily trained. The country's social and political stability, and coupled with the philosophy to succeed has also contributed to the country's success story, he added.
