Proud citizen embarrassed by the scene in Entrapment

Edward Fernandez

I AM presently on holiday in the US and I would like to comment on the movie Entrapment.

Being a proud Malaysian, I made it a point to see the movie when it was released.

What a disappointment.

The film was good, but the photography of Malaysia was full of lies.

I, for one, am very proud of the Twin Towers and I know that the surrounding areas are very modern and clean.

Yet, when the film was shown, it depicted the Malacca River and the slums nearby as if they were by the side of the Twin Towers.

What utter nonsense. The area around the Twin Towers is full of modern buildings and five-star hotels.

I was very embarrassed by this movie.

The ignorant audience who have not travelled to the East all went away with a terrible picture of Malaysia.

I was literally cringing in my seat when the film showed these shots.

I went with some American friends whom I had told that the City of KL was very modern and clean.

They all made fun of me after the show. Can you blame our beloved Prime Minister Datuk Seri Dr Mahathir Mohamad for always hitting out at the West?

I hope our Minister of Tourism will take up this case with the relevant authorities. I will be returning to Malaysia soon and hope the authorities will see it fit to ban this movie.
