Rawlings: Ghana eager for more investments

GHANA is keen to see more Malaysian investments.

Its President, Jerry Rawlings, made this known to Prime Minister Datuk Seri Dr Mahathir Mohamad in Victoria Falls.

The two leaders held a bilateral meeting on the sidelines of the Third Southern Africa International Dialogue (SAID '99) on Monday.

The existing Malaysian projects in Ghana are "doing well", according to Rawlings.

Rawlings said the Government would like to see more businesses to be invested at an industrial park set up by a Malaysian company, Business Focus Sdn Bhd.

Telekom Malaysia Bhd also has investments in the telecommunication sector in Ghana which has helped improve the telecommunication links in the country and made telephones available to more Ghanaians.

Dr Mahathir also participated in the breakfast meeting on Global 2000 and was also one of four quadrant moderators during discussions on "Co-operate to compete - Role of business in economic empowerment for smart partnership projects".

The Prime Minister who left for home yesterday had earlier travelled to New York to address the United Nations General Assembly and the Institute of Foreign Relations as well as the Malaysian-American Business Council.

On his way to Victoria Falls he stopped over in London and spoke with Malaysian students.
