Businessmen show the way by flying Jalur Gemilang

WITH three more days before the National Day celebrations on Thursday, more Malaysians have started to fly the Jalur Gemilang on their cars.

This can be interpreted as a sign of love for the country.

It is also in line with statements by Prime Minister Datuk Seri Dr Mahathir Mohamad and Culture, Arts and Tourism Minister Datuk Abdul Kadir Sheikh Fadzir recently, calling on Malaysians to express their patriotism.

Dr Mahathir, Abdul Kadir and the Youth and Sports Minister Datuk Hishammuddin Hussein have already been pictured in the New Straits Times on Saturday with flags on their cars.

Following them are corporate figures who were spotted with flags on the cars by the New Straits Times photographer Azmaidi Abidin.

"Malaysians should feel proud to fly the national flag on their cars.

"It is a sense of pride, a feeling of love and appreciation for living in a country which is peaceful," said Yusof.
