Chance to convey your personal message to Dr M in print

KUALA LUMPUR, Thurs. - Turn up at the "Tribute To Datuk Seri Dr Mahathir Mohamad" road shows for a chance to convey your personal message to the beloved leader through the newspaper.

The Malay Mail Classifieds today launched the series of road shows, which will be held at several shopping complexes around the country starting on Oct 5.

"This is a rare opportunity for everyone to express their gratitude in words to our Prime Minister," The New Straits Times Press (M) Bhd marketing senior general manager Pat Wahid said.

The road shows, from which the public can get the forms for their messages, will be held at the KLCC, Sungei Wang, The Weld and Sogo in Kuala Lumpur, Subang Parade and Sunway Pyramid in Petaling Jaya, Jaya Jusco Bukit Raja in Klang, Prangin Mall in Penang, Ipoh Parade in Perak, Berjaya Mega Mall in Kuantan, Mahkota Parade in Malacca, and City Square and Plaza Angsana in Johor Baru.

Forms can also be obtained at the NSTP's booth at the Langkawi International Maritime and Aerospace exhibition in Langkawi.

The messages can be expressed in three different styles.

"Style A is ready-made messages, where you will only have to add your name. Style B allows you to write personalised messages where you will see print of your own handwriting. Style C allows you to book one whole page to put across the messages," Pat said, adding that everyone will get a 70 per cent discount for every space bought.

All messages will be published in the Malay Mail Classifieds from Oct 31. The closing date is Oct 26.

Also present during the launch were NSTP group general manager (advertisement) Tengku Mohamed Taib and group general manager (production and technical) Tun Ibrahim Mohd Jefri.
