

Sarawak

A geographical survey of a developing state

James C. Jackson, M.A., Ph.D.

*Leverhulme Fellow in Commonwealth Studies,
University of Hull*

UNIVERSITY OF LONDON PRESS LTD

11
020.522
JAC

474398

GB SBN 340 09383 8

Copyright. ©1968 James C. Jackson

Illustrations copyright. ©1968 University of London Press Ltd

University of London Press Ltd

St Paul's House, Warwick Lane, London EC4

Printed and bound in Great Britain by

T. and A. Constable Ltd, Edinburgh

27 JAN 1989

Perpustakaan Negara
Malaysia

Contents

Maps and diagrams	7
Plates	9
Tables	10
Preface	11
1 The environmental setting	15
2 Population and settlement ✓	38
3 Agriculture and fishing	73
4 Forest products industries	125
5 Mining and manufacturing industries	138
6 Transport	159
7 Trade and commerce	175
8 Public utilities and social services	184
9 The challenge of development	202
Bibliography	206
Index	213

Maps and diagrams

1 Administrative boundaries	17
2 Geology	19
3 Relief	23
4 Mean annual rainfall	27
5 Mean monthly rainfall for selected stations	28
6 Land use and forest types	33
7 Forest reserves	36
8 Population distribution, 1960	39
9 Age pyramid, 1960	40
10 Population changes, 1947-1960	42
11 (A) Iban, (B) Malays, (C) Land Dyaks and (D) Melanau as a percentage of the total indigenous population, by District, 1960	44
12 Iban migrations	46
13 Chinese dialect groups, 1947	56
14 Growth of the Sarawak Raj, 1841-1905	59
15 Foochow settlement in Central Sarawak, 1900-1930	60
16 Ethnic composition of main urban centres, 1960	66
17 Kuching	68
18 Percentage of rice-growing farms selling surplus padi	80
19 Percentage of rice-growing farms producing sufficient padi for family requirements	80
20 Subsidiary farm-houses and family padi farms of an Iban longhouse on the Sungei Sut, 1949-1950	83
21 Rubber Planting Scheme 'B'	95
22 Exports of rubber, 1935-1965	97
23 Exports of pepper, 1946-1965	103
24 Exports of sago, 1935-1965	106
25 Production of chief minerals	139
26 Mineral resources	142
27 Gold mines in production, 1964	146