Parti Keadilan Rakyat (PKR) incumbent deputy president Dr Syed Husin Ali is leading vice-president Azmin Ali in the nomination race for the number two post.

Syed Husin has received 16 nominations while Azmin has 14. The contest will take place during the opposition party's national congress in May.

Apart from the duo, former PKR Youth chief Ezam Mohd Nor also received two nominations for the deputy president post. The nominations were from the Bukit Mertajam and Merbok divisions.

Ezam had recently resigned from all posts in the party but remains as an ordinary member.

Meanwhile, PKR advisor Anwar Ibrahim received 26 nominations for the post of president, which is held by his wife Dr Wan Azizah Wan Ismail.

Wan Azizah received five nominations while former deputy president Abdul Rahman Othman was nominated for the post by the Padang Serai and Merbok divisions.

The nomination process, involving 167 divisions nationwide, will conclude by the end of the month.

According to the PKR information bureau, 33 divisions have completed their annual meetings as of the weekend.
