Youth and Sports Minister Khairy Jamaluddin was put in a spot at a student summit today in Kuala Lumpur when he was asked about the three things about Pakatan Rakyat.

Appearing lost for words, Khairy opened his mouth several times but then fell silent again.

"Umm... The first thing I sort of like about them, I have to be grudging about it - oh come on - give me a chance here," he said at the 7th Annual Malaysian Students Leaders Summit, amidst laughter in the room.

Finally managing an answer, Khairy said he admired the sense of camaraderie in Pakatan Rakyat.

"You would see DAP, PAS and PKR at the same ceramah.

"We (BN) try to do that as well but the sense of being together is quite obvious in Pakatan which I think is something to respect," he said.
