A Samad Said is not perturbed by the calls from certain quarters to strip him of the national laureate title.

On the contrary, the 81-year-old poet welcomed the move.

Taking it a step further, Samad said that he would not even care should the government revoke his citizenship.

"As far as the call to revoke my laureate title, I welcome that with open arms.

"In fact, I even welcome the revocation of my citizenship should they decide to do so," he told Malaysiakini.
