If Zahid can be minister, Kak Wan can surely be PM

YOURSAY 'Kak Wan has got vision - Zahid, what have you got?'

'Pakatan, don't dream about first woman PM'

Fair Play: Actually Home Minister Ahmad Zahid Hamidi's response has revealed the following. First the idea is not so far-fetched as it might be - otherwise why has he even bothered to respond with such a negative comment?

Second, for the untold injustice heaped on PKR de facto leader Anwar Ibrahim and the very possibility of imprisonment for the next five years, PKR Kajang candidate Wan Azizah Wan Ismail might the beacon of light and the catalyst to motivate the rakyat for real change.

And she is definitely qualified in every sense of the word. And finally, the powers-that-be should be very worried about the fallout of the unfortunate Flight MH370 incident that had enabled the world community to have a harsher look at the way Umno runs the country, from politics to accountability to the way they act against all those whom they perceive are a threat to their continued political hegemony.

1Malay-sia-sia: If an idiotic moron like you can be a minister, surely a woman has better chances to be the PM, right? Maybe even a Chinese woman.

Fn: Zahid. Wan Azizah is more capable than you.

Peace&Justice: Yes, I would vote for Wan Azizah as the future and very first lady PM.

Heavenly King: Zahid, that is the dream and aspiration of more than 51 percent of the voters. Wan Azizah will be the PM of Malaysia soon.

This, of course, depends on whether the Malays really want fairness and progress.

Kilgore: If Wan Azizah as PM is a dream, then having Ahmad Zahid Hamidi as a home minister, is a living nightmare.

Apache: This Zahid has no respect for women. BN thinks women are not capable of holding such a high position. At least, we have the first ever woman speaker in Selangor under Pakatan Rakyat.

Anonymous_3e06: We all have a right to dream, but Umno gives nightmares to Malaysians in all things from education to race relationships to court cases to religious freedom to having a crime-free country.

TheSaint: Even dreams are being hijacked by moronic ministers like Zahid. Even our dreams are not spared by sexist minister from BN. Umno-BN even wants to restrict what we want to dream. God help Malaysians.

My Opinion: Stupid home (science) minister ... you have just made lots of your own BN female members angry. Anyway, what's wrong with a woman PM? Tell it straight to the face of Bank Negara governor Zeti Akhtar Aziz.

SpongeBob: Zahid, you are the one who is daydreaming about becoming the DPM or PM. If Najib decides to resign, he would rather make way or appoint his cousin. Do you have that power or influence to change this in Umno? Dream on!

Mohican: Ahmad Zahid Hamidi, you can only win by not being truthful. Get to the core of the problem - why have 51 percent of the voters rejected BN and why is Umno the most hated party in Malaysia?

If you can analyse this, which I hope you cannot, you will yield an answer.

EvenSteven: Zahid, Pakatan's dream may turn out to be your worst nightmare. Anyway, it looks like you don't dare to say your candidate will win this by-election, just that she will get more votes. That's not very encouraging for BN Kajang candidate Chew Mei Fun is it?

Nippon: We Malaysian too have a remark for you, Zahid. Please don't daydream that you will be the next PM.

Anonymous_3da6: Kak Wan has got vision - Zahid, what have you got?

I don't even have a maid, says Chew of abuse claims

Onyourtoes: DPM Muhyiddin Yassin will set up a special body to help the people of Kajang? What body is that? What help are they talking about? You see, they don't even think about what they are saying anymore.

They promise to fulfill their pledges - you mean, like their pledges to reduce tolls made during GE13?

Dhammika: Special body? Look at the Indian promises made by the PM and the empty promises made by the deputy minister who later quit the Indian portfolio.

Umno cannot be trusted at all. Umno-BN can make mistakes but never break our trust. Because forgiving is easy but forgetting and trusting again is sometimes impossible. So can we trust Umno-BN?

Fairnessforall: "Not only the federal government, all ministers have assured me that they will assist me to serve the people of Kajang (if I win)," Chew Mei Fun told Bernama.

Chew must be really stupid and inefficient if she needs all ministers to assist her to serve the people of Kajang - shouldn't it be her work to serve them if she wins?

So who is going to serve people from other areas if all ministers are going to serve Kajang people? Idiots of the highest order.

Hello: The DPM says BN and especially MCA will fulfill pledges by all ministers? That will be the day! It would be more credible if Pakatan had said this - and this is coming from the ruling government of the day. The rakyat now do not have high expectations of the BN government.

Anonymous #1278079: Chew Mei Fun can get her bosom friends, the butt dancers, to help promote cultural shows in Kajang.

Don't Just Talk: The Kajang voters must ask the MCA candidate Chew Mei Fun how little is the supposedly "little" amount of money given by the federal government to fund Perkasa programmes, which are aimed at creating racial disharmony in the country.

What are the objectives and purpose of funding their chief Ibrahim Ali and his deputy Zulkifli Noordin? Perhaps to give white ang pow to the poor, elderly Chinese during Chinese New Year?

Armchair Newspaper: Where's the apology Ms Chew, of you appearing on the same stage with Perkasa?

Supercession: Well, Chew Mei Fun, if you don't have a maid, then you should get one so that you can spend all your time brown-nosing Umno, Perkasa and Pekida.

Anonymous_1390562550: All the king's horses and all the king's men and all the king's ministers will not be able to help this Chew in Kajang.
