

'Petronas never asked to consider TRX development'

Petronas has confirmed that it was never asked to look at the Tun Razak Exchange (TRX) development.

"In fact, we have sufficient on-going developments at KLCC comprising office buildings, a hotel and extension of retail space being undertaken by KLCC Holdings (our property arm) and its partners," it said in a statement.

The statement was in response to reports saying Petronas president and chief executive officer Wan Zulkiflee Wan Ariffin had refused to answer queries on the matter after announcing the group's first quarter results for the financial year 2015.

The question from the floor was on whether Petronas would consider purchasing land in TRX to add to its land bank.
