YOURSAY Chauvinist, says the man whose party is only open to his own race.

Hadi: PAS will work with all except 'chauvinists'

Swipenter: DAP is a "chauvinist" party that even has our national laureate Pak Samad (A Samad Said) joining it in the struggle to make Bolehland a better place for all?

PKR is a big disappointment. It has no guts to state its stand unequivocally when issues of race and religion are involved.

Where does PKR stand on the ideals of universal human suffrage? Is it forever going to pretend that everything is sacrosanct when whenever race and religion are thrown into the equation.

After almost six decades of independence, many of the majority are still suffering from paralysis, not thinking straight and rationally on issues of race and religion. And PKR is no exception.

Gunnerrun: Chauvinist, says the man whose party is only open to his own race and religion. Same goes for its big brother, Umno.

To add to this is that his mighty ego is further stoked by the belief that everything PAS does has God's blessings and they are the chosen people. And they truly believe all the kaffir will end up in hell.

Together with hundreds of blogs out there, they keep banging that non-Muslims are the most chauvinistic around.

Hey man, take a mirror and please look deep into it.

Visu: PAS president Abdul Hadi Awang has succeeded in breaking DAP from Pakatan Rakyat and now he is focusing on PKR.

The whole idea is to split PKR so that PKR will be too weak to join forces with DAP.

Anonymous #22175361: Indeed, Hadi has successfully broken Pakatan apart. Round 2 is to break PKR. By next GE, PAS will work with Umno.

Free: Definition of a "chauvinist" from the Cambridge Online Dictionary: A person believing or showing an unreasonable belief that one's own country or race is the best or most important.

Let the people judge whether the definition of "chauvinist" fits more to Umno, PAS, PKR or DAP. Clearly, some of those who claim to be pious are simply shameless and unprincipled.

Versey: PAS is a party formed along religious lines. Umno, MCA and MIC are race-based parties.

DAP and PKR are parties with outstanding MPs and Adun (state assembly representatives) of different ethnic backgrounds, among them are atheists, Buddhists, Christians, Muslims and Sikhs.

It is not difficult to tell which are the parties that project a better reflection of Malaysia - a multi-racial and multi-religious society that can better unite the people in mutual respect, to live in peace and harmony, and together help build the nation, isn't it?

PAS under Hadi was against Dr Wan Azizah Wan Ismail, a woman, to be Selangor MB, while DAP gave her full support. Only the 'bangang' cannot tell who the real chauvinist is.

This fanatic needs someone to advise him to take a long and hard look at himself in the mirror.

By saying that the party he leads will work with any party, except chauvinists, Hadi literally means he will only work with those of his kind.

We shall do him the favour in the next election and send him and his kind back to East Coast to hibernate there.

LifeFlier: The true character of Hadi cannot be more obvious when he did not support Kak Wan during the Kajang Move. He is indeed a male chauvinist.

But something is much worse than the character of a chauvinist if Hadi thinks he can act against Pakatan's common policy framework, to which he had agreed.

Yap Cs: Umno is the party always calling DAP chauvinist. So, Hadi now shows his true colours.

YF: Notice that Hadi is borrowing words from Umno scriptwriters. He uses the same terminologies that Umno uses against Pakatan leaders.

It goes to show that Hadi is speaking only for Umno and not for PAS. So, who is really leading PAS?

Obviously Umno, as Hadi is just a mere parrot repeating what his master tells him to say.

Ablastine: So Hadi, you have received instructions from Umno not to let PAS be divorced completely from Pakatan, yet so that you can continue to make trouble for them?

Umno probably realised you will not be of much use if PAS is not in Pakatan.

Unless you are blind, you can easily predict that PAS will not stand a chance of taking any seat outside of Kelantan because opposition voters will avoid PAS like a plague.

So, for Umno, the longer PAS stays in Pakatan, the better.
