The Light Rail Transit 3 (LRT3) is expected to commence operation on March 1, 2025, to benefit two million residents, said Transport Minister Anthony Loke.

He said the LRT3 project is now being implemented, with construction progress achieving 86 percent.

“Construction is almost completed, and now work is on the signalling system and others.

“LRT3 is expected to begin operation on March 1, 2025, 18 to 19 months from now.

“We expect it to benefit two million residents around the west coast of Klang Valley, especially from Petaling Jaya to Klang,” he said.

He told the media after inspecting the project's development and status of the Shah Alam route at Johan Setia depot today.

Loke said the RM16 billion project has 22 sets of three-coach trains with 18,630 passengers per hour capacity.

“This densely populated and developed area would see tens of thousands of passengers using LRT3.

“This project will have two interchange stations, namely in Bandar Utama, which connects the Kajang Line MRT to LRT3 and Glenmarie, which connects between the Kelana Jaya Line LRT and LRT3.

“It is a good connection, and there is a flyover to connect the two stations,” he said.

He said all the trains had been prepared and were being tested to operate correctly after the opening, besides adopting green technology that is more environmentally friendly.
