I refer to the malaysiakini report Have your say on action against sexist MPs. Much have been said on the subject matter.

Obviously, the government is not going to do anything about these two hoodlums in the august House. They are part of each other and their Umno votes to the leadership are important.

Past TV images have shown these two hoodlums making a fool of themselves with the whole BN backbenchers just singing along and backing their stupidity. These two bumps basically have no brains to debate on any topic, let alone speak sensibly. They only know how to yell and jump about exactly like monkeys in distress.

If our government and the prime minister particular are serious about getting qualified MPs, the PM must do something immediately instead of keeping his 'elegant silence'. These two hoodlums must be removed at all costs so that other nationalities will at least show some respect to Malaysia in general and the BN government in particular.

Maybe when confronted, the PM will just say it is too late, they are already elected. How about not disallowing these two bumps and characters of such nature from participating in future elections?

Mr PM, please put on your thinking cap before making your selection of candidates for the next election or else you and the BN are going to lose even more votes.
