The Domestic Trade, Cooperatives and Consumerism Ministry is in the process of formulating the structure of the Competition Commission for approval by the Public Service Department, said its minister Ismail Sabri Yaakob.

He said the Commission would be responsible for the enforcing the Competition Act 2010, which was recently passed by Parliament and is aimed at ensuring fair business practices.

Its members would be made up of professionals including lawyers and economists as well as representatives of non-governmental organisations, he told reporters after attending ExxonMobil's Group Literary Award 2009 presentation ceremony at Istana Budaya here tonight.

He added that it was the PSD that would provide the commission its manpower requirements.
