

Machap: Why bother, opposition?
Malaysiakini.com
April 9, 2007
Mandala Putra

All should be kindly be informed that according to the election laws and the laws of democracy, government bodies are totally different from political parties. So when some ministers from the government use government machinery to help a political party, that is totally wrong. It is wrong to me, it is wrong to those all over the world who accept democracy.

But I'm not sure about those in the Election Commission. Please do not ask me to provide the evidence because an efficient EC like the one in Malaysia can surely notice all the nonsense that been happening in the media and in Malacca now.

There is one minister who said that he will use his ministry to explain the issues raises by the opposition. Can the opposition use his ministry to explain to the issues raises by BN? Well?

Does the EC realise that since 1970 until today, there have been such inventions as the Internet, TV, satellites, computers, etc? Don't they know that the people can think? Don't they realise that what happens in Malaysia will be known worldwide in an instant?

Actually I don't give a damn about who's going to win or lose in Machap. But if you want to play the game, play it on a level-playing field. I don't even want to know why the opposition even bothers to participate.

Well, I hope you all have a great by-election.

Copyright © 1999-2007 Mkini Dotcom Sdn. Bhd.
Source : <http://www.malaysiakini.com/news/65684>