KUALA LUMPUR - The storm on the usage of 1Malaysia has not abated, and a key BN leader stepped up the ante.

Minister in the Prime Minister's Department and Gerakan chief, Koh Tsu Koon in his new year message said that the year 2011 should see all Malaysian re-dedicating themselves on ensuring the philosophy of 1Malaysia in nation-building is well-promoted based on Rukun Negara and the Federal Constitution.

He said it was important to see the true spirit and substance of 1Malaysia in sustaining harmony, celebrating diversity, and forging unity, based on mutual respect, inclusiveness and moderation.

"After the launching of the Government Transformation Programme (GTP), the Economic Transformation Programme (ETP) and the 10th Malaysia Plan in 2010, 2011 would see the continuation of vigorous implementation of all these new initiatives," he said.

Dr Koh also emphasised that the government leaders and officers must continue to 'walk the talk' by concrete and concerted delivery and not just deliberation.

"Equally important is the emphasis on 'Performance Now' by the civil service to effectively serve the people in accordance with the government's commitment to always place 'People First'," he said.

Dr Koh said, all of these initiatives and commitment should be the emphasis throughout year 2011 as the Year of 1Malaysia.

Although a general election is not due until 2013, the Barisan Nasional government is counting on the feel-good factor the various Najib initiatives, under his 1Malaysia banner, promises to bring, as a key weapon in the oft talked about looming general elections in 2011.
