KUALA TERENGGANU -- The door for Umno-PAS discussions on a solidarity government has never been closed, Umno information chief Ahmad Maslan said on Friday.

Ahmad said that Umno looked forward to the day when Malays were united and no longer split because of politics.

"If PAS should decide to no longer be with PKR and the DAP in the opposition pact, we would be ready to discuss a solidarity government with them," he told reporters after a meeting here with Umno members from Bukit Payung and Ru Rendang.

Ahmad was commenting on a statement by PAS secretary general Mustafa Ali earlier yesterday that his party would announce its stand in the opposition pact after investigations were completed on the sex video reported to feature someone resembling PKR advisor Anwar Ibrahim.

The setting up of a solidarity government had been suggested by PAS president Abdul Hadi Awang, but was rejected by leaders of PKR, DAP and PAS.
