Be big and bold
to implement performance
roadmap,
civil servants told

KUALA LUMPUR: Civil servants and politicians must be "big and bold" in implementing the Government's roadmap to improve the performance of the Government, Prime Minister Datuk Seri Najib Tun Razak said.

He said this should be done because the people would evaluate them on whether they have managed to make good the promises in the plan.

Najib said early results could already be seen in areas where initiatives have been implemented.

Some of the measures in the Government Transformation Programme Roadmap are:

- > To fight corruption, successful applicants of government tenders to be published in a website;
- > In education, financial and non-financial rewards will be given to school heads who exceed targets;

- > In public transport, a single ticket for use on buses, trains and the LRT will be launched;
- > To cut crime, police may employ stake-outs for vehicle thefts and house break-ins.
