PRIME Minister Datuk Seri Najib Razak's Deepavali celebrations yesterday included a morning visit to the home of Letchumi Nadarajah, a social worker and National Wanita WIIC treasurer, in Taman OUG here.

Najib said Letchumi, 67, had a difficult life after her husband's death 31 years ago, but turned her fortunes around with government help. She then helped others by providing advice to the needy.

"I greatly appreciate Letchumi's noble contributions, and hope many will use her as an example to follow by contributing to those who need help. Happy Deepavali!" Najib wrote on his Facebook page.

Letchumi, a mother of four, operates a food stall and organises activities at a children's shelter.
