PRIME Minister Datuk Seri Najib Razak visited Datuk Seri Abdul Hadi Awang at the National Heart Institute (IJN), where the Pas president is undergoing a routine check-up.

Najib, on his Twitter account, yesterday posted a picture of him standing at Hadi's bedside, along with the caption: "I was notified that Hadi Awang is in IJN and visited him. I pray that Allah grants him good health."

In an earlier tweet, Najib said he went to Hospital Kuala Lumpur for a follow-up visit after undergoing a minor surgery on Saturday to remove a small benign growth on his right hand.

Najib, in the tweet, said he subsequently went to IJN to visit his former information officer Datuk Nasir Safar, who was earlier admitted to the heart centre.

An aide for Hadi said the latter was admitted to IJN to undergo a routine check-up.

"He admits himself to the heart centre once every two or three months. The doctors will check his blood pressure and heart," the aide said.
