

DISCUSSION WITH PM

King holds last pre-cabinet meeting

KUALA LUMPUR: The king held his last weekly pre-cabinet meeting with Prime Minister Datuk Seri Anwar Ibrahim at Istana Negara here yesterday ahead of the conclusion of his term as the 16th Yang di-Pertuan Agong.

Istana Negara said the meeting was special for both Yang di-Pertuan Agong Al-Sultan Abdullah Ri'ayatuddin Al-Mustafa Billah Shah and Anwar.

It said for the king, it would be his last time attending the weekly meeting with the prime minister before he stepped down as Yang di-pertuan Agong on Jan 30.

"Having graced 160 pre-cabinet meetings, including today's (yesterday's) session since ascending to the throne as the 16th Yang di-Pertuan Agong, His Majesty has actively engaged with four prime ministers. The first pre-cabinet meeting was held on Feb 13, 2019.

"The pre-cabinet meeting is one of the weekly or main routine activities of His Majesty to discuss and exchange views with the prime minister regarding government affairs and related

Yang di-Pertuan Agong Al-Sultan Abdullah Ri'ayatuddin Al-Mustafa Billah Shah and Prime Minister Datuk Seri Anwar Ibrahim at a pre-cabinet meeting at the Istana Negara yesterday.

PIC FROM
ISTANA NEGARA'S
INSTAGRAM PAGE

issues," said Istana Negara on Facebook.

Present at the meeting was Chief Secretary to the Government Tan Sri Mohd Zuki Ali.

His Majesty was elected as the Yang di-Pertuan Agong by the Malay rulers at the 251st (Special) Meeting of the Conference of Rulers at Istana Negara on Jan 24, 2019, following the unprecedented resignation of Sultan of Kelantan Sultan Muhammad V as the 15th Yang di-Pertuan Agong on Jan 6, 2019.