

PM: All will benefit from economic policies

KUALA LUMPUR: The government will ensure that the nation's economic resources are directed to national development, benefiting all levels of society, said Prime Minister Datuk Seri Anwar Ibrahim.

This includes smallholders, farmers, fishermen, agricultural industry stakeholders and everyone involved in the national food supply chain, Anwar said on Facebook.

He said this in response to His Majesty Sultan Ibrahim, King of Malaysia's royal address yesterday.

Anwar said the king expressed concern for the smooth operation of the government and the continuation of efforts to attract investments, ensuring economic progress benefited all Malaysians

Anwar added that the king also highlighted the importance of advanced technology, particularly in digitalisation and cybersecurity, to transform service delivery and government efficiency."

He expressed gratitude for the king's willingness to grace the ceremony.

"I pray and hope that Malaysia will remain peaceful, prosperous and competitive under His Majesty's reign."
