ALOR SETAR, Aug 24 (Bernama) -- The "touch point" programme by Umno has been successful in regaining the support of the people towards the party and Barisan Nasional (BN), state Umno chief Datuk Ahmad Bashah Md Hanipah said.

He said Umno's initiatives in meeting and finding out about the problems faced by the people had brought them closer to the party leadership.

"PAS leaders are only good at making promises to the extent that they are not able to implement them properly, which created problems and also leave a bad impression on the people.

"The people will evaluate the work which is done by Umno leaders and the result will be translated into votes in the coming 13th general election. The people have the power to decide which leaders are capable of administering the state," he told a press conference, here, today.

Ahmad Bashah said the response to the visit by Prime Minister Datuk Seri Najib Tun Razak to Kedah on July 28, was proof that the people fully supported his leadership.

He expressed confidence that Umno and BN would wrest back several state and parliamentary constituencies which it lost to the opposition in 2008.
