SHAH ALAM, 6 Sept (Bernama) -- Shah Alam Member of Parliament Khalid Samad came to the Selangor Islamic Department JAIS to give a statement in conjunction with a report that he gave a religious lecture in Klang last month without having the credentials to do so.

Assistant director of the Public Relations and Publication Unit of JAIS Nurhamizah Othman said that Khalid was called by the enforcement division to help investigate the report that he gave a religious lecture at the Taman Seri Sementa surau in Kapar.

She said that Khalid gave his explanation at about 10am and that the investigation was continuing.

The Selangor Administration of Islam Enactment 2003 prohibits anyone giving a lecture on the religion without proper accreditation.

An offender can be fined not more than RM3,000 or jailed up to two years or both.
