BERA, Oct 30 (Bernama) -- Traders have been warned not to raise the price of goods at their whims and fancy during the Hari Raya Aidiladha celebrations next week, as the Festive Season Price Control Scheme would not be activated during the festival.

Domestic Trade, Cooperative and Consumerism Minister Datuk Seri Ismail Sabri Yaakob said the ministry's enforcement team would monitor the prices of essential goods during the Aidiladha festival.

"We will not tolerate traders who raise the price of goods listed as controlled items," he told reporters after attending a meet-the-people session in Felda Purun here today.

He said the Festive Season Price Control Scheme would only be activated during Hari Raya Puasa, Deepavali, Christmas and the Chinese New Year.

Ismail Sabri gave an assurance that the supply of essential goods for Hari Raya Aidiladha was sufficient.
