PUTRAJAYA, Aug 8 (Bernama) -- The Prime Minister's wife Datin Seri Rosmah Mansor received a courtesy visit from teenage prodigy Ng Eng Seng at Seri Perdana here Monday.

Ng, 19, from Kuala Lumpur, is one of the Malaysian prodigies accepted into Duke University, which is among top ten universities in the United States.

He enrolled at the university at the age of 14.

He graduated with a Bachelors degree in Mechanical Engineering with a cumulative grade point average of 3.892.

Ng sat for the SAT examination when he was seven and his results was described by Johns Hopkins Center for Talented Youth (CTY) as "incredibly exceptional for a child under the age of eight". He will be pursuing his Masters degree in the same field at Stanford University, also in the United States, next month.

During their half-hour meeting, Rosmah said she hoped that upon graduation, Malaysian prodigies like Ng would return to Malaysia to serve the country.

She also hoped that the teenager would return home during holidays to share his experience and motivate the participants of Universiti Kebangsaan Malaysia Permata Pintar programme, including at its camp scheduled for December.
