LAPOK: Malaysia's education system is in for a thorough review and a detailed proposal will be completed by the end of this year.

"I am not satisfied with our current education system, there are lots of thing that need to be done especially in relation to the quality of our education," said Education Minister Tan Sri Datuk Muhyiddin Yassin at SMK Tinjar about 130km from Miri on Saturday.

Muhyiddin, who is also Deputy Prime Minister, said he had submitted the early findings of the study to review the current education system last week and the Prime Minister Najib Tun Razak had supported his ministry's initiative.

"We will table the complete report by year end," he said.
